Male Nature. The nature of females.

Sex differences between males and females. Its underlying determinants.

The body of living thing.
It is a vehicle for the germ cells.
It is a mere tool for the germ cells.

The centrality or centrality of the germ cells to the existence of living things.
The fundamental importance and primacy of the germ cells in the existence of living things.
Awareness of this.
It is fundamentally important for the understanding of living thing's and human activity.
It is fundamentally important to the understanding of living thing's and human sexual difference.

The male body of living thing.
It is the vehicle of the sperm.
It is a mere tool for the sperm.

The female body of living thing.
It is the vehicle of the egg.
It is a mere tool for the egg.

The body of the human male.
It is a vehicle for the sperm.
It is a mere tool for the sperm.

The human female body.
It is a vehicle for the egg.
It is a mere tool for the egg.

Sex differences between males and females.
They are all fundamentally derived from the difference between sperm and egg.

Fertilization between sperm and egg.
Reproductive act.
Self-reproduction.
These are the main life activities of males and females.

High intellectual ability and high athletic ability in human beings of both sexes.
The existence of these abilities is only secondary to the life activities of males and females.
Their contents are merely a reflection of the nature of germ cells.

The nature of sex differences in living things.
The nature of sex differences in human beings.
It is the difference in the nature of the sperm and the egg.

The sex difference between male and female.
Its existence is based on sexual reproduction as living things.
As long as the sperm and egg exist, it is impossible to erase.
As long as humans are a type of living things that reproduces sexually, it is impossible to erase.

To deny the sex difference between males and females.
It is a denial of the vitality of the sexes.

People who deny the sex difference between males and females.
Example. Liberal activists in the West and Japan and Korea.
They have no choice but to become non-living beings.
They have no choice but to become monogamous living things.

Sex differences between males and females are defined by sex differences in the nature of germ cells and reproductive organs.

Male and female gametes. The female egg. Male sperm.
Reproductive organs of males and females. The uterus and vagina in females. Male penis.
The differences in the nature of their existence, operation, and distribution.
They define the following contents.
Sex differences in the psychological and social behavior of males and females.

The social behavior patterns of sperm are homologous to the social behavior patterns of males and to those of people in male-dominated societies.
Example. Self-abondonment. Extension of power. Challenging spirit. Originality. Individualism. Liberalism. Discreteness. Openness. Diversity. Independence. Independence. Mobility. Universal orientation. Multipolarity. Expansiveness. Typhoon-like violent domination. Gaseousness.

The social behavior patterns of the ovum are homologous to the social behavior patterns of females and people in female-dominated societies.
Example. Self-preservation. Power preservation. Retrogressiveness. Precedent-following. Collectivism. Syncretism. Totalitarianism. Inclusiveness. Closeness. Proximity. Harmony. Unity. Sedentariness. Self-centeredness. Unipolarity. Locality. Tsunami-like tyranny.

Liquidity.

Examples.
Those characteristics are reflected, for example, in the content of following.
Male-dominated society. Segregation of political authority.
Example. Separation of powers in Britain and the United States.
Female-dominated society. Fusion of political authority. Example.
Real fusion of the three powers in Japan.

The value of existence as living things and sex differences between males and females.

The egg and uterus are biologically valuable.
A female has eggs and a uterus.
Females are biologically valuable.
A female is valuable simply by existing, without having to do anything.
Females do not need to work, unless they are in financial need.
A female can receive as much education as she likes, as long as she likes it.

Sperm is biologically non-valuable.
Males have only sperm.
Males are biologically non-valuable.
A male is worthless if he only exists.
In order to be valuable, a male has to work, earn, and achieve something.
Males must be forced to get the education they need to do so, even if they do not like it.

(First published in September 2021)

Social distribution and sex differences between males and females.

Females are socially distributed in a way that they are treated as valuables and privileged.
Females are distributed in the following areas in the following ways.
A limited, narrow, safe, and stable area.
To settle and reside in a concentrated, dense, collective manner within that area, where everyone gets along well together.
That territory is the center of society.

Males are treated and distributed socially, as non-valuable goods.
Males are distributed in the following way, in the following areas.
The area around the area where females live.
Within that realm, dispersed, low-density, and constantly moving by the sole action of the individual.
The territory is vast, but unstable, with risks and dangers.
That realm is the periphery of society.
Males are socially compelled to work and earn within that domain.
The mission of this work is the following.
To achieve the following.
To transform a risky and dangerous area into a safe area, thereby continuously securing an area where living thing is easy to live.
Only those males who have accomplished this mission and have earned their way economically will make a triumphant return to the center of society.
Only such males will be allowed by females to have genetic offspring with females.

Life is innate, with females having a higher social status, and females being the social superiors.
Life is innate with a lower social status for males and a lower social status for females.

Life is innately discriminatory against males.

Based on the differences in natural environment, the society of living things can be divided into the following styles.
A sedentary lifestyle, such as an agrarian lifestyle.
Mobile lifestyle, such as nomadic and pastoral lifestyle.

The sedentary lifestyle is suitable for females and unsuitable for males.
In a sedentary lifestyle, females have a high social status and are the social superiors.
The social status of males is low and males are socially subordinate in the sedentary lifestyle.
In sedentary lifestyle, discrimination against males occurs.

In mobile lifestyle, males are suitable and females are unsuitable.
In mobile lifestyle, the social status of males is higher, and males are socially superior.
Females's social status is low and females are socially subordinate in mobile lifestyle.
In mobile lifestyle, discrimination against females occurs.

Comparison of the properties and behaviors of eggs and sperm. Comparison of the properties and behaviors of females and males.

Comparison of the properties of the egg and sperm.
Comparison of the properties of the female and the male.
It is the following.

The egg's gigantism, fertility, totalitarianism, sedentariness, and closure by surface membranes.

The sperm's dwarfism, paucity, individualism and liberalism, mobility, and spatial openness.

The egg's interior, filled with abundant fluids and nutrients. It is a reproductive resource, a reproductive facility, and a huge vested interest in reproduction. The egg, as a reproductive cell, is more valuable for the survival of the living thing.
Sperm lacks much more fluid and nutrients than the egg. That this constitutes a fundamental lack of vested interest in reproduction. That the sperm, as a reproductive cell, is more non-precious for the survival of the living thing.

The sperm unilaterally borrows reproductive resources from the egg, such as abundant nutrients and water. The egg is the possessor of the reproductive resources and the sperm is their unilateral borrower.
The egg is more valuable as a reproductive cell and the sperm is less valuable than the egg.
The male unilaterally borrows reproductive facilities from the female, such as the uterus and breasts. The female is the occupant of reproductive facilities such as the uterus and breasts, and the male is their unilateral borrower.
In the society of living things, the possessor of resources and facilities is superior to their borrowers.
In the world of goods, valuables are superior and superior to nonvaluables.

They are the following.
The fundamental superiority or supremacy of the more precious egg over the more non-precious sperm.
The fundamental superiority or supremacy of the more precious female over the more non-precious male.
The fundamental superiority or superordination of the egg, which occupies reproductive resources, over the sperm, which unilaterally borrows them.
The fundamental superiority or supremacy of the female egg bearer over the male sperm bearer.
The fundamental superiority or superordination of the female who occupies reproductive facilities such as the uterus and breasts over the male who unilaterally borrows them.

The male. It is an entity that is Subordinate who is unilaterally cast by the superior female into inferior roles and is unilaterally forced to engage in those roles, as follows.
//
A tribute to females for a safe, comfortable, and easy greenhouse environment and greenhouse lifestyle.
A subordinate to a role that females do not like to perform.
A suicide attacker who goes into dangerous areas that females avoid.
A lowly armed living thing who escorts an unarmed female.

The egg is a fertile, liquid molecular being, whose interior is filled with liquid water, rich in nutrients. The sperm is a simple, gaseous molecule-like entity without any of those things.
At fertilization, the sperm is unilaterally engulfed, melted, and dismantled by the egg.
It indicates the following. The fundamental superiority or supremacy of the egg over the sperm.
It indicates the following. The fundamental superiority or supremacy of the ovum-bearing female over the sperm-bearing male.

The nature of the egg is homologous to the nature of the female and to the nature of people in female-dominated societies.
The nature of the sperm is homologous to the nature of the male and to the nature of people in male-dominated societies.
The social behavior pattern of the ovum is homologous to those of the females and those of people in female-dominated societies.
The social behaviors of sperm are homologous to those of the males and those of people in male-dominated societies.

They are illustrated by the following illustration and the following control list.

Self-preservation and self-centeredness as the true nature of females

1. The survival advantage females have. Relation to females's true nature.

Females have a greater survival advantage over males.

Females have a survival advantage over males.
Females have an advantage over males in terms of survival.

That is because females have Eggs. Female genitalia.

Females are the following.
(1) Females are more valuable than males.
(2) Female is more noble than male.

It produces
Females's nature. Its roots.

(First published June 2020)

2. The essential nature of females. Self-preservation.

2-1. Females's true nature. Self-preservation. That trait.

Females are the following.
Females hold the following.

"Self-preservation.

Females hold it based on their own biological value.
Females hold it on both sides of Physiology. Psychology.
Females hold it intrinsically and powerfully.

Self-preservation in the psyche.
It is, for example, a disposition to
The possession of that property. She has the following psychological qualities toward those around her.

"I wish to achieve the following.
(1) Everyone will protect me.
(2) They will take care of me first.
(3) They will be the following. A substitute for me. They will be hurt and die in the process. In so doing, my life is preserved.

The self-preservation nature of females.
It is
The core of the female-dominated personality.

It stands in tandem with
The self-centeredness that females have.

Females are the "self-preservation oriented sex

/////////

The origins of females's self-preservation nature.
It is based on the following ways of being The womb. The egg.

They fall under the following.
The biological existence of female. Its roots.

(A) The female organ of a female. The uterus as its principal organ.
They are the beings of Human as living thing.
Its biological aspect. The equipment and capital in it.

They are most important and valuable for the realization of Human's genetic offspring for posterity.

The womb is the place where

(1) It is where the following two things meet.
(1-1) Sperm by the male.
(1-2) Egg by the female.

(2) It fertilizes them.

The uterus is the primary place for their realization.

The Uterus is the following to human.
Its existence is paramount and should be protected.

The Uterus.
The female occupies it.

Males are poorly equipped in Biological facilities and capital.

Therefore, males are the guardians of
The uterus. The female genitalia. Their owners. Females.
Males turn to be the protectors of females.

He protects her from enemies.
Males are equipped with strong physical abilities to do so. For example, muscle strength.

(B) The eggs a female has.

The number of eggs is suppressed to a small degree.
Eggs are a rarity in their very existence.
Eggs are of great value in that respect.

Also.
The egg is less frequent in The number of times it ovulates in the uterus.
Oocytes are limited in Its duration of ovulation into the uterus.

In this regard, the egg is an entity with Limitations.

The uterus is of great preciousness.
It is distinct from scarcity.

////////

Sperm held by a male.

(A)
The sperm are numerous, very numerous.
Sperm is a crude product.
Sperm are available in abundance.
Spermatozoa are lacking in the following
(1) Scarcity in terms of existence.
(2) Preciousness based on it.

(B)
Spermatozoa are always ready in the male's body.
Spermatozoa can be injected into the uterus at any time.
Spermatozoa are maintained in this state.
Spermatozoa are lacking in the following
(1) Existential limitation.
(2) Valuableness on that basis.

////////

Eggs. Its bearer. Females.
They are intrinsically valuable in terms of their biology.
Their existence should be protected.

Sperm. They are not precious.

Their bearers. Males.
They turn to be the protectors of Egg bearers. Females.

Males protect females from predators.
In order to do so, males are equipped with strong physical abilities.
For example, muscle strength.

//////////

Consider the following (1) as a direct replacement for (2) below.
(1) The way the egg is.
(2) The occupant of the reproductive aspect of the egg. Female. The way it is.

This allows us to understand the following.
The nature of the female. Its self-preserving nature.

Consider the following (1) as a direct replacement for (2) below.
(1) The self-preserving nature of females.
(2) The social nature of the female-dominated society.

Precedent. Conventions.
They are modes of behavior.
They have been identified as having the following
Their effectiveness in achieving the following.
(1) Their own self-preservation.
(2) Their own safety.

A male-dominated society.
People see them as absolutes.
People memorize them.
People learn them, blindly.

Old-timers.
They are the keepers of them.
They are their accumulators.

People set (1) below as (2) below.
(1) Old-timers.
(2) Social superiors.

People are subject to (1) and (2) above.
For example, China and Japan.

/////////

Female Nature. Self-preservation. Its roots.
It can be summarized as follows.

(1)
A female has the following
Ova. Female genitalia.
They are biologically more valuable.
Females, therefore, are more valuable than males.
Females are, therefore, more noble than males.

Therefore, females are oriented to
To be protected by males.

Females are weak in the following
Muscle strength.

So, females are oriented to
To have themselves protected by males.

(First published June 2020)

2-2. female nature. Self-preservation. That flaw.

Female Nature. Self-preservation.

Females make its realization a top priority.
She is the first to secure it.
She will do whatever it takes to achieve it.

As a result, she will do the following acts with impunity
These acts are natural to females.

Females banish others to the following places.
Flood prone areas.

(F)
(F-1)
Females produce
sedentary groups.

(F-2)
Females will ensure the following
Supremacy within the group. Mid-rankedness within the group.
Females ensure that they avoid subordinate in the group.

(F-3)
Females collude.
Females sympathize.
Females collectively bully the weak.

(G)
(G-1)
A female watches the actions of others.
She snitches on the actions of others.

(G-2)
Females shall expel the following from within the sedentary lifestyle group
A person who is unsafe. A person who is dangerous. A person who disturbs the harmony.

(Conclusion)
Females will do anything for self-preservation.

Females dehumanize themselves for the sake of self-preservation.
Females, for the sake of self-preservation, darken the psyche.

Females, for the sake of self-preservation, become, as a result, the following.
(1) Actors. A backwards and forwards being. A liar. An unreliable being. An apparent presence.
(2) Self-centered. Selfish being. Self-righteousness.

Male-dominated society.
People have the above deficiencies.

3. The essential nature of females. Self-centeredness.

Females are the following.
Females hold the following.

"Self-centeredness.

Females hold it based on their own biological value.
Females hold it on both sides of Physiology. Psychology.
Females hold it essentially and powerfully.

Psychologically, self-centeredness.
It is, for example, a property of
The possession of that property. She has the following psychological disposition toward those around her.

I wish to realize the following.

(1)
I want to be at the center of everyone.

(2)

I want to be the center of everyone's attention and attention.
I want to be popular.

(3)
I want to be praised by everyone.

The self-centeredness of a female.
It is the core of the female personality type.
It coexists with
The self-preserving nature that females have.

Females are the "self-centeredness".

The self-centeredness of females. Its origins.
It is based on the way of being of The egg.

It falls under the following.
The biological existence of female. Its origin.

In the womb, the following occurs.
The ovum is surrounded by
A group of spermatozoa.

The egg sits at the center of
A group of spermatozoa.
The egg, in the center of the spermatozoa, with a large face.
The egg remains stationary and sedentary in the center of the egg.

This indicates the following.
The egg is a self-centered entity.
It is biologically and fundamentally so.

In such a situation, the following occurs
The egg is receiving the attention of the surrounding spermatozoa.

The egg is being pampered by the sperm around it.

Replace (1) below with (2) below.
(1)
The manner in which an egg is made.

(2)
Human reproduction. The following entities in it. The occupant of the egg.
Female. The way it is.

This allows us to understand the following.
The nature of the female. Its self-centeredness.

Consider the following (1) as a direct replacement for (2) below.
(1) The self-centeredness of females.
(2) The social nature of a female-dominated society.

A female-dominated society.
People think of it as follows.
We are the following.
(1) We are located at the center of the world.
(2) We are the uppermost beings in the world.

People behave toward the society around them in the following ways.
(1) People behave arrogantly.
(2) People behave arrogantly.

For example, Chinese philosophy in China.

Females should realize their self-centeredness.
Its preconditions.
Females, therefore, seek to realize the following.
(1) I am with everyone.
(2) I am in the midst of everyone.

Females seek them, constantly.

In this regard, females are of
The everyone-oriented sex. A sex that is oriented towards everyone.
A whole-oriented sex.

Everyone.
It is for females to be a
A group to which they belong. Their fellow members.

Females focus on achieving the following.
(1) Moving more centrally within everyone else.
(2) Be the center of everyone's attention and shine.
(3) To be the talk of the town.
(4) Stand out from the crowd.

Females value the following
Others around them. Their eyes and gaze.

Females are always in the midst of Mutual surveillance.

In this regard, females are seen as "The sex of the eyes.

The presence of the eyes.
Females value it.
Females assume it and operate on it.
Females perform on the basis of it.

In this regard, females are viewed as
The attention-oriented sex.

The sex that wants to be noticed.
The sexuality that wants to be noticed.

The sex that wants to be seen.
Being seen. The sexuality that takes pleasure in it.

A female assumes the presence of
The people around her. The presence of "surroundings".

In this respect, females are perceived as Surrounding-oriented sexuality.
Surrounded. The sex that is oriented to it. The sexuality that wants it.
Being interviewed by others. Desire it.
To be filmed. Desire to be filmed.
Being in the press. The sexuality that wants it.

In this respect, a female wishes to
To be an idol.
That desire is intrinsic to the female.
Every female desires it.

She is oriented toward
A circle of people.

She is also oriented to the following places within it.
The center.
The center of the city.

Females consider the following.
The more (1) below is realized, the more (2) below is realized.
(1) A circle of people. I will be more centrally located in them.
(2) My social status. It becomes more elevated.

Females consider the following
The more (1) below is realized, the more (2) below is realized.
(1) A circle of people. I will go to the more peripheral part of it.
(2) My social status. It becomes lower.

These ideas produce the following.
(1) A female-dominated society.
Within it, hierarchy.

Class relations within it.
For example, school caste.

The "self-centeredness" of females.
From that perspective, the author captures the following
The "female-dominated leadership.

It is the following leadership approach.

(1)
A position that hits the center of everyone.
From there, the leader instructs everyone around him or her.

Everyone's awareness.
Leaders bring it all together.
Leaders do this so that Everyone working together.

(3)
The leaders shall be the following
A leader is a superior person in a caste.
The leader thus guides everyone from the top.

The next tendency of females.
I seek the attention of all.

There are two ways to do that.
Between these occur the following
The following sensations. They are in conflict with each other.

(1) The sense of looking good.
A positive self.
An open self.
Those contents.

I want it to be noticed, by everyone.
That feeling.

(2) A sense of shame.
The negative self.
My private self.
The content of them.
I don't want that to be the focus of my attention, from everyone.
That feeling.

The occurrence of these sensations.
They can be classified in two ways

(1)
Unofficial occurrences.
She feels it in her own daily life.
She feels it, half-unconsciously, in her own daily life.

(2)
An official occurrence.
She feels it, in the presence of all.
She feels it through the realization that
She actually gets everyone's attention. The realization of it.

The feeling of the above.
A sense of vainglory.
A sense of shame.
Analysis of them.

The researcher will focus on the following
The following aspects of the human being in himself.

1. The Positive and Negative Aspects of Myself
(1) The positive side.
I succeeded.
I am strong.
I'm capable.
I am socially fit.

(2) The negative side.
I failed.
I am weak.
I am incompetent.
I am sociopathic.

2. A duality in oneself. The open side. The private side.
(1)
The Open Side.

The following part.
Let's say that I, it was seen by an outside observer.
That's not a problem for me.

The following part.
I want them to be actively promoted to the outside world.

They include both sides of the following.
The positive aspects.
The negative side.

(2)
The private side.
The following parts. I like to keep it a secret from the outside world.
The part below. I want to hide it from the outside world.

The following parts of myself.
They include both of the following aspects of oneself
The positive side.
The negative side.

Suppose I release it to the public as it is. It is not good for me.
I want to hide it from the outside world.

"My sexual side of myself.
I have the following. My sexuality.
I want to hide it from the outside world.

2.1 My sexuality in myself.

"My own sexuality.
It refers to the following.

(1)
Sexual area.
A specific part of one's own body.
Let's say I was touched there. I am then sexually aroused.

(2)
A specific part of my own body.
It is a powerful part of one's own body that has
(2) Sexual attraction to males.

(3)
Sexual desire. The strength of it.
I build it into my own organism.

3. self-centeredness. Fulfillment in both of its following directions.
Positive direction. Negative direction.
Its relation to the following two senses.
The sense of "vanity.
The sense of "disgrace".

It is as follows.

(1) The sense of "vainglory. Its occurrence.
The positive self.
In myself, the part of me that is open.
About them, the following will be gathered.
attention from everyone.
Then, for me, the following happens.
A sense of entitlement.

There, the following (1) is fulfilled as (2)
(1) The nature of self-expansion.
(2) A positive direction.
Therefore, it is, for me, a pleasant feeling.

(2) Occurrence of a sense of "shame".
Negative self.
In myself, the part of myself that I keep private.
About them, the following are gathered.
everyone's attention.
Then, for me, the following happens.
A sense of shame.

There, the following (1) is fulfilled as (2)
(1) The nature of self-expansion.
(2) The negative direction.
Therefore, it is, to me, uncomfortable.

When a female realizes the following (1), she gets the following (2).
(1) I go to the center of everyone.
(2) I get the attention of everybody. Such a state.

The more females realize (1) above, the easier it is for them to get (2) above.

This encompasses two aspects at the same time, which are mutually contradictory.
They are mutually contradictory.
They are in conflict with each other.

(1)
I would be treated by everyone as a superior.
I become easy to be pampered by everyone.
I become easy to be glorified by everyone.

I'm more likely to be humiliated by everyone.

The generation of humiliation.
The generation of humiliation in the human being for himself.
It can be in two ways

(1) My own fault. The part due to it.
Its voluntary arising.
I am originally aware of it in myself.
It is, for example, the following.
My own bad appearance.
My own usual bad character.

Failure.
I have caused it in front of everyone.
The cause of it is my own.

(2) Others around me. Their fault. Partly due to it.
Speech of malice. An act of malice. Such content.
Others around me hurled it at me.
Others around me have perpetrated the act deliberately.
A sense of humiliation. It occurs as a result of the above.

It is, for example, the following

It is done to myself.
It is done by others in the surroundings.
Bad language.
Gossiping behind one's back.
Gossiping.
Sexual harassment.

Or.
My own secret inner workings for myself.
Its disclosure. That revelation.
It is done to myself.
It is done by others around you.
It is done in front of everyone.

It's done under duress.

Such as molestation. A sense of humiliation from it.
It happens because of both of the above.

The sexual aspect of my own. Its inner workings.
(1) I'm aware of it in the first place.
(2) I want to keep it hidden from the people around me.

(3)
Others will engage in the following acts with respect to it
They will make it public.
They make it public to everyone around me.
They publish it without permission.
Others make it public by force.
Others will hold a grudge against me.

4. Females's True Nature. The "princess orientation" of females. Its occurrence.

Female nature.
Self-preservation. Self-centeredness.
The coalescence of the two.
It produces
Females's "princess orientation".

Females act on the basis of
Their own biological preciousness.

It is based on the following.
(1) Self-preservation.
Females take care of themselves first and foremost.

(2) Self-centeredness.
Females put themselves first.
Females put themselves first.

Females are both.
Females are the following.
They are jewel-like.
They are radiant.
A noble nature.

She sees herself as noble.
She considers herself to be the following.

(1)
I want to be pampered by everyone around me.
I want to be cherished by everyone around me.
I want to be protected by everyone around me.

I want to be in the midst of everyone around me.
I want to occupy a central position in everyone around me.
I want to be able to
I will be more easily protected by everyone around me.

(3)
I want to wave my power more strongly at them.
I want to bring everyone to their knees to me.
I want to make it happen around me.
I want to make it happen unilaterally and completely.

I want to make everyone to be
A servant to me.

Females want to be
To be
The topmost person in their environment.
A noble princess.

A female's tendency to do this.
It can be described as follows.
"Princess oriented.

A princess is one who
(1) She is young.
(2) She is noble.

(3) She is both of them.

The princess is young.
Therefore, the princess has the following characteristics.
Sexual attractiveness.
The princess has it all. It is a physical charm. It's a spiritual charm.
The princess has it in full.
The princess has more than enough of it.

A female thinks that
I want to have the following powers.
The power to draw people to me.
That power will draw people to me.
I want to be that person.

A princess-oriented female.
She is, in essence, a
"A noble mothball.

A female cares about her surroundings.
The act is actually aimed at achieving the following
To improve their reception by those around them.
To improve her standing.
Make herself the best she can be.

Females perform such acts.
The reason.
It is, after all, the following
A female puts herself first.

For a female, the following is the prettiest thing in the world.
herself.
Females have a very strong sense of self-love.

(First published June 2020)

5. Females's true nature. Self-centeredness. Self-preservation. Their interaction and compatibility.

Females make the following natures interact with each other.
Females reconcile them.
Self-centeredness.
Self-preservation.

The human being. Its place in existence.
The closer you are to the center, the deeper you are inside.
The less exposed a human being is to the outside world.
The more human beings are so, the easier they are to protect from outside forces.
Human, in doing so, seeks to achieve both of the following
Self-centeredness. Self-preservation.

Humans with this tendency. It is not limited to females only.
Those in power also have this tendency.
It is both males and females.

It is, for example
Military fortifications. Castles. Its structure.
It is inhabited by the powerful and their families.

The female is a combination of Self-centeredness. Self-preservation.
Females are, in that respect, essentially power holders.

(First published June 2020)

6. Females. The realization of its "self-centeredness". The need for progressive action. The conditions that make its implementation possible.

Females try to achieve self-centeredness.

Females will try to
Be on the cutting edge of fashion. Trying to thrive on it.
Females will insist on showing others that they are their own forwardness.
Females will seek to achieve the following.
Draw attention to themselves.

Females think like this
I want to be progressive.

The ability to be progressive on their own.
Females hold it within themselves, internally.
But females keep it sealed and suppressed from being exercised.
This is due to the following.
that a female, in herself, has a 'self-preservation.' Its nature.

Therefore, she has practically no such power.

A female's primary concern is
Self-preservation.
Security for that reason.

Females dislike the following
New challenges.
It involves risk.

Females, in turn, seal and deter the following.
The ability to create the following on her own. Novel and advanced new knowledge.

The actions that females actually take.
It will include
It is secure, highly secure.
But it comes at the cost of
It comes at the cost of backwardness.

Females.
The content of their everyday behavior.
It tends to be backward.

Females, however, act in a progressive manner.
This is when the following conditions are met.

(1)
Females want the following to be achieved

Self-preservation and security.
That she will never be harmed.
That is guaranteed, no matter what they do.
It doesn't matter how much she does the following Challenge. Failure.

Suppose all of the above did come true.
Then the female will be very bold.
The female unseals the following
Challenge deterrent.
The seal exists in the female's mind.

Females are actively challenged.
Females become progressive.

For example, Japanese anime. Pretty Cure. The scene of the flesh-and-blood battle.

The heroines are attacked by the enemy in various ways.
But the heroines are never fatally wounded.
The heroines never die.

The girls in the audience love it, a lot.
It is a manifestation of this.

(2)
Females want to see the following achieved
Large groups of people acting together in unison.
Thereby achieving the following
Collective irresponsibility. The acquisition of this.

In doing so, females will be newly assured that they will
She will no longer be held accountable for her failures.
She would be free from injury to herself.

And she will be able to maintain
Self-preservation.

Suppose that the above is achieved.
Then the female will be very bold.
She will do many of the following
They try new things.
A new challenge.

Females must realize the following in order to perform them.
Irresponsibility in action. Achieving it.

In order to do so, the following are imperative
Collective action. Its simultaneous synchronicity. The securing of it.

Therein, there is
Collective action. The psychological constraints it creates.

In that respect, there is a fundamental difference between
(1) Females's behavior.
(2) Male behavior.

Males take on challenges.

Males act individually in doing so.
As a result, males are responsible for their actions.
Males do not care much about it.
They manage to accept it.

(First published June 2020)

7. hierarchical and power relations among females. Relationships with females's true nature.

Harsh hierarchical and power relations arise among females.
Females in power are the center of society.

Females are subservient to the superior.
Females subjugate the subordinate to themselves.

The causes of this are twofold: (1)

(1)
The female will not allow any Rebuttal.
Suppose someone argues with her.
She will be angry and immediately punished severely.
She retaliates relentlessly.

(1-1)
Females are emotional and affective.

(1-2)
Females are psychologically close to their partners.
Females have a strong sense of oneness with each other.

(1-3)
Females are soft-hearted and vulnerable to criticism.

Such a spirit in females is derived from Females's nature.
Self-preservation.
Females defend their position.
She therefore gets along well with her surroundings and is in tune with them.
Females have a strong sense of psychological unity with others.
Suppose a female is confronted by an opponent in this situation.
Then she suffers the following
Psychological damage.
It is severe.
She feels very uncomfortable.
The female vents her anger at the opponent.

(2)
Females do the following to subordinates
She looks down on them.
She makes fun of them.
She discriminates.
She will do them flat out.

Females play nicely with superiors.
It is based on
"Self-preservation.

She forces the subordinate to do the following things to herself.
One-sided service.
It is based on: "Self-preservation.
"Self-centeredness.

Female nature, "self-centeredness.
From that perspective, it can be said that

The degree of hierarchy among females is determined by the following degrees

Inside their own group.

Their social position in it.
Its centrality.

Among females, the superior is positioned as beings who are more central than themselves.

A female's position of power in society.
That is, to be the center of the society.

Subordinates are positioned among females as Being more peripheral than oneself.

Females think of subordinates as

Your demands and attitude towards me.
It's presumptuous.
You need to realize that you're
A fringe position.

Females treat themselves as the center, based on their self-centeredness.

Females become arrogant to
The subordinate as a peripheral.
This is part of the Chinese philosophy.

Thus, a harsh hierarchy is created among females.

This idea of females.
This idea of females has a ripple effect on the whole female-dominated society.
Female-dominated society.
In this society, the following are prevalent
The "superior" of the social system.
Tyrannical rule by that person.

///////

Males take the following (1) as (2)
(1) A being who is superior in ability to himself.
(2) A strong person. A superior person.

Males take the following (1) as (2).
(1) An entity with inferior abilities.
(2) A weak person. Low performers.

Males, this way of thinking.
It spills over into the entirety of the male-dominated society.

(First published June 2020)

8. Social Protection for Females. Why It's Necessary

(The same reasoning applies worldwide.)
(1)
Female is an egg holder.
A female is a vagina holder.
Female is a valuable.

(2)
The female body is small.
A female's muscles are weak.
The female is raped.

(3)
A female becomes pregnant unwillingly.
A female will have the following, unilaterally
Defective product inventory.
The fetus.

(Reasons specific to the following only. Mobile lifestyle. A male-dominated society.
(1)
Females are unfit for a mobile lifestyle.
Females are vulnerable and in need of protection.

(First published June 2020)

Male Nature. Abandonment. Self-expansion.

(A) Abandonment.
Males lack the following.
"the biological value of the organism.

Males are not concerned with self-preservation.
Males are desperate beings.

Suppose a female or child is in danger.
Females and children will try to achieve self-preservation.
Males are the abandoned stones for that realization.
In this regard, the nature of males is the nature of abandonment.

The roots of male nature, the nature of abandonment, are as follows.

(1) Males, as a life organism, have Sperm. The male organ.
The male is a lesser being than the female.
Therefore, males protect females.

(2) Males have strong muscles.
So, males protect females.

(B) Self-expansion.

Males have the following characteristics in relation to (A) above.

Males are willing to jump into unknown environments.
They are willing to take risks and move around boldly on the spot.
They are willing to take on new challenges.
They do so knowing that they will fail.
They do it with abandon.

They produce one thing after another.
New knowledge. They have never been seen before. It's a novelty.

They expand the range of applications of their new knowledge.
By doing so, they often appeal to their surroundings for
Their own competence.

Males earn the pleasure of females by doing so.
He is accepted by
Females.
She liked his competence.
As a result, he makes it easier for him to leave behind a wide range of his genetic offspring.

In these respects, males have
The nature of "self-expansion.
Extend and broaden the existence of the self.
To move toward its realization.
To have that as their nature.

This is, specifically, the following.

(B-1)
Males are more oriented to the following (2) than to the following (1).
(1) Being with everyone.
(2) Being an individual.

(B-2)
Males try to move on the following
Males move on an "individual basis".
They move to solve problems.
He moves widely in the environment.
He moves fast in his environment.

He is oriented to
They are oriented to move around.
They are mobile oriented.

(B-3)
Males focus on problem solving.
Males create work teams to meet their needs.

However, they do not work together.
They separate themselves from each other.
Males work while maintaining that status.
Their team works mainly on the following
The following actions are taken by each member of the team.
(3-1) Actions on an individual basis.
(3-2) Free action.

Males are oriented toward the following.
Free action" orientation.

(B-4)
Males work on an individual basis.
Males thus move aggressively into
(1) Uncharted territory.
(2) The uncharted territory.

Such a realm can be described as follows.
(1) "The Dark Realm.

The male repeats, on the spot, the following.
(1) Trial and error.
(2) Challenge.

They will do a lot of digging in that area.
They try to succeed in the following.
They try hard to achieve it.

He tries to transform that realm into a new realm of
The Realm of Light.
It is a realm of the following.
(1)
Areas that help to achieve the following.
(1-1) The level of human survival. Its improvement.
(1-2) The level of human life. Its improvement.

(2)
A secure area.

Males will somehow succeed.
Males are oriented toward the following.
(1) Challenge oriented.
(2) Success oriented.

(B-5)
The Realm of Light.
He took it upon himself to obtain it anew.
He had a newfound success in realizing the following of that realm.
From the dark realm to the light realm.

Male takes it as his own new territory.
Male seeks to occupy it.
It is his own turf.
It's his own influence, his own power.
It works for him.

"The realm of light.
Males consider its scope to be
It corresponds to his own vested interests.

He is mindful of Expanding their scope.

In doing so, males are incessantly fighting with their rivals for the realization of Vested interests. Their expansion.

They compete for it.

Males repeatedly fight for it.
They want to win it.
It leads to the following attitudes by males
Human orientation towards self-expansion.

Males operate in the following ways
(1) "Territorial expansion" oriented.
(2) They are oriented toward the "expansion of vested interests".
(3) A "victory in battle" orientation.
(4) "Self-expansion" orientation.

(B-6)
The Realm of Light.
Males have acquired it, by themselves, anew.

(1) Its breadth.
(2) Its effectiveness.
He flaunts them.

They make such a display to the world.
They make such a display broadly and universally.

They allow others to use their Realm of Light.
They reap great rewards for doing so.
They make large amounts of money from it.
They do this to show off their abilities.
They make that appeal to the world.
They make that appeal to a wide range of people, all over the world.

They make such an appeal, especially to Females.
They are attractive to males as a marriage partner.

Males aim to Win the female.

Males are motivated by
(1) Universal orientation.
(2) "Appeal of competence" orientation. Competency orientation.

(B-7)
Males do the following.
(1) Competence on an individual basis. Their demonstration of that.
(2) The demonstration of their accomplishments.

Males will be oriented toward.
(1) Social success.
(2) Social victory.
(3) The attainment of them. To make them their own achievements.

Males take advantage of the following socially.
(1) Fame gained.
(2) Acquired assets.

He thus seeks to achieve the following
(1) The following (1) shall be the following (2).

(1)
(1-1) His own genetic descent.
(1-2) His own cultural descendants.

(2)
(2-1) To spread them to society.
(2-2) To spread them universally.
(2-3) To spread them massively.

Males operate in the following.
(1) "Social success" orientation.

(2) Social victory oriented.
(3) "Social expansion" oriented.

'Summary'
(1)
Females have
"Self-preservation. ("I am the most important person in the world to me. The nature of thinking.
A corresponding characteristic of males.
It's the corresponding trait of males, which is: "Self-abandonment.
"Self-abandonment.

Females have
"self-centeredness. ("I am the center of the world. The nature of thinking so.")
Correspondingly, male nature.
What is it?

It is as follows.

(1) Orientation to the following.
(1-1) Its own competence.
(1-2) Its universal effectiveness.
(1-3) Its appeal.

(2) Orientation to social success.

These two coalesce.
It will be expressed in the following way.

"Its own universal success. Orientation to it.

This can be further rephrased as
Orientation to the following.
(1) Its own existence. The universalization of it worldwide.
(2) To succeed in it.

This ultimately leads us to the expression:
"Self-expansion.

Females, by nature, are "self-centered".
Males, by their nature, are "self-expanding.

The Nature of Self-preservation. The Nature of Abandonment. -An Examination of Femininity and Masculinity

"Summary"
The author summarizes the conventional findings on sex differences in a well-organized manner from the following perspectives.

(1) Females, as organisms, are more valuable than males.
(2) Females are the ones to be protected.
(3) Females are more concerned with self-preservation. Females put safety first. (4) Females prefer to help each other with others around them.

In traditional sex psychology, there has been much interest in differences in ability between males and females. These were differences in spatial cognitive ability, language ability, and so on.

The reasons for the ability gap between males and females are generally given in society as follows.
(1) Male. To go out and procure prey for food. To protect females and children from foreign enemies.
(2) Females. Raising children in the nest of the home while being protected by males.
The existence of these gender role differences has been suggested as a reason for the sex differences between males and females.

However, so far there has been little mention of why the following happens.

How did these gender role differences arise?
(e.g.
Why have males started going out?
Why do males need to protect females?

As the reasons for the above-mentioned differences in ability and gender roles, the author has focused on the following points It was.

(1) The difference between eggs and sperm, which is the root of the difference between females and males.
(2) The difference between having or not having a mechanism for child care in that body. (The womb. The breast from which milk is produced.)

This is explained in more detail below.
(1) Differences in the nature of the germ cells that are responsible for reproduction. The male has sperm. A female has an egg.
This leads to the next difference, to Females are the bane of our existence. Males are expendable.

The egg carried by a female is more valuable than the sperm carried by a male. Eggs are the key to maintaining the population.
This provides a basis for the following.

Females are protected by males.

(2) Without females, the following happens
Our biological system for rearing children does not work.
(Nurturing a fetus in the womb. (Nurturing a fetus in the womb, feeding an infant.)

Humans do not grow up to be children.
It will have an immediate impact on population maintenance.
This makes females, biologically, a "precious resource".
For more information on the above, see the following text.

Biological Valuableness and Sex Differences"
An Examination of the Inequality of the Weight of Human Life

Females are more valued and protected than males. Females have a strong sense of their own nature as the "precious sex".
Males, the "crude sex".
In this way, females are ranked higher than males in terms of biology.
Females are the "precious sex". Females have access to the ultimate value of life, which is to sustain life.
Females are in a higher, preferred, position than the males at risk.

Females are entitled to the following privileges, as follows.
When a male holds the position of "official leader" in a social group.
It is permissible for a female to openly sacrifice a male for her own life support. That is, even if the male is the official leader.
Females can survive, in preference to male leaders.

Traditionally, social status has been measured as follows.
Representatives and leaders of public organizations that run society are at the top.
And so it has been perceived that "males have a higher social status.

hey have been viewed as the "top of the social ladder".

When "high social status" is viewed from a biological perspective.
Its height is "the degree of intensity to which it can prioritize and sustain life. It can be taken as "the degree of priority, the intensity of life support.

Females are more valued and protected in society.
Females have an even higher status than the males who represent them in the organization.

"Females are commodities.

The biological nature of females determines the way they behave.

The "biological value of females" is the root cause of "femininity".
True "femininity" is as follows.
Protecting oneself, a valuable commodity. Self-preservation and safety sensitive. Self-preservation orientation; self-preservation and safety orientation.

Females can be called the "self-preserving sex".
A female is oriented to the following.
To be helped and protected by a strong and gentle being (male).

Females have become the "protected sex" and the "helped sex".
Females consider themselves to be "important and valuable".

Female's willingness to sacrifice her own life is limited to the following cases:
Then her children are in danger.

Males are a non-valuable commodity.
These biological characteristics of males are the cause of their "masculinity".

True "manhood" is as follows.
(1) To be discarded and not to think of self-preservation.

"Orientation to abandonment.
To protect and help valuable beings other than oneself. Precious beings are, for example, the following A female, a child, a VIP. A child.
A VIP.
(2) To be an impulse, a shield. To throw down one's own life as a substitute. To throw away one's own life as a substitute. "Impulse, shield orientation.
(3) To be able to survive on your own without the help of others. To be able to protect oneself. Self-preservation, self-reliance and independence oriented.

Males can be called
(1) "Discarded sex. . "The sex of the guard. (The sex of guarding others.) "Escorting sex. "The sex of self-defense.
(2) The act of hiding a valuable being, such as a female, behind a backdrop. It is the tendency to confront directly with an external enemy. The tendency to defend and attack against an external enemy. The sex of confrontation. .

he act of confronting an external enemy.
An external enemy is, for example, the presence of Harmful, life organisms and humans. sex's fury, such as wind and water damage.

The sex of abandoning oneself to protect, defend, and rescue a valuable being, such as a female. "The sex of protecting and rescuing. .

For example, the following expression is frequently found in comics written by females
(1) The heroine is protected or saved from a dangerous situation by a male.
(2) The heroine considers the following. 'You saved me! You've been protecting me! .
(3) The heroine's liking for the male will rapidly increase.

Females have the following desires in their
I want to be rescued from my captivity by a prince on a white horse.

I want to be held and protected by a male, to be a 'princess' in his arms.

In that context, the following patterns and depictions are less apparent.
A female helps a male.
This raises the impression that males have of females.

These are evidence of the following.
(1) Females are the "protected" and "helped" sex.
(2) Males are the "protective" and "helping" sex.

Females are the most important and pretty things about themselves.
Females believe that 'It is unavoidable that others (males) must be sacrificed in order to protect themselves and ensure their safety.'
Females have strong characteristics of Self-centered. Self-centered. Self-first. Self-love. Self-pity.

Males are unilaterally forced to sacrifice themselves for the sake of their significant other (females).

This has led to a disparity in the innate treatment of males and females. This has led to discrimination against males.

These findings have been written from the standpoint of biological value.
Such studies of sex psychology are not yet widely available.

The factors that make females the "protected sex". The factors that make males the "protecting sex". It is as follows.
(1) Biological Valuableness.
(2) Differences in muscle strength. Body Size.

Muscles, strength, in males, are toned and strong.
Muscles, muscle strength, are more flaccid and weak in females than in males.

In adapting to the environment, humans are exposed to the elements, rain, wind, and external forces.

Those with weak muscles are at a greater disadvantage in adapting to their environment.
It needs to be protected and guarded by those with strong muscles.

Females with weak muscles are protected from the outside world by males with strong muscles.
A strong-muscled male deals directly with enemies, wind and rain.
He uses his strength to defeat enemies, wind and rain. He protects females.

Females are more inward, museless, and helpless.
Traditionally, the following distinction has been made. "The female is the being inside. "The male is the being on the outside.
That distinction is made for the reasons stated above.

Males are supposed to use their strong muscles to protect females from enemies, wind and rain.
But males may also use it to attack, subjugate and dominate females.
It is, for example Domestic, domestic violence. Rape.

Therefore, the following ideas are prevalent among both females and males.
'It is unfair for a male to use his strong muscles to restrain a female who was born with weak muscles. .
Any quarrel between a male and a female should be a verbal dispute and be done with it.
Females are naturally more slippery and floppy-mouthed than their male counterparts.
For verbal attacks, females have an advantage. For that, males are at a disadvantage.

About "height and other body measurements. Males are big.
Females are small.
A large person's body size is a "shield" for a small person.

he larger ones are able to protect the smaller ones from predators and weather.

These things make males the "protecting sex". This makes females the "protected sex".

In society, the term "female and child" is used. In society, females and children are viewed as one and the same.

Females, as mothers, often turn to the "babysitting" role, nurturing their children.
Females are more likely to be "with their children. are often.

There is another reason for this, too.
There are many similarities between females and children.
Children and females are similarly "protected".
Children are, for the young couples who have had children, the following.
An existence as an irreplaceable and precious commodity. An existence that you would be willing to trade your life for. A source of hope for life.
Children, therefore, are treated with care.

Children are "helpless beings".
Children are small, immature, and have weak muscles and such.
Children are not yet fully developed in their life skills. A child cannot survive on its own.
Children, therefore, need to be protected by those who are strong enough.

Thus, the child is precious and vulnerable.
Females have a kind of biological "preciousness". Females have a kind of "weakness". It is based on muscle weakness and small size.
Therefore, children and females have in common, in nature, the nature of

This kind of preciousness and vulnerability makes females and children "protected" in common.
Hence, females and children are lumped together as "females and children".

A. Examination of "femininity"
The female is the valuables, the nature of being protected, the nature of self-preservation.
The author has summarized "femininity" from this perspective, in the form of bullet points, below.

A1. "Seeing the Self as Valuable"
Females consider themselves to be the most precious and want others to treat them with importance and care.

(1)	Protection Oriented	Females are to be protected by those around them as "valuable, to be protected. To be in a position to help. This is a fundamental desire.
(2)	Loyal Orientation	Females see themselves as noble. (Princess. Lady. . Females have a high degree of pride. (The degree to which they stop being noble. A degree of pride. The degree of pride.)
(3)	Classy Orientation	Females are concerned about their own dignity. Females want to be seen as noble and refined. Females are scrupulous in checking for undignified expressions in books and videos.

(4)	Courtesy Sensitivity	Females are picky about their politeness to themselves. Females are sensitive to each other and to whether the other is rude to them.
(5)	Self-centered, narcissistic orientation	Females are the prettiest thing about themselves. Females are the most important thing about themselves. Females are narcissistic and narcissistic, such as when they see their own reflection in the mirror.
(6)	Weak Pretend Orientation	Females think the following. "Suppose I admit that I am a strong person in society. Then I would have no one to protect me. . Even if a female is in a position of strength, she pretends to be weak and tries to get males to protect her. Females do this even if they are stronger than males, like females in a sedentary lifestyle dominated society. Females want to be treated as dominant. Females prefer to feel weak in power.

A2. "Safety First"

Females put safety first in everything and are not willing to take risks. (Risk avoidance orientation).
female is afraid of failure and tries to avoid it. (Failure avoidance orientation). Females are cautious and conservative in their choices when starting things anew. (Cautious, conservative oriented).

A2-1. "Precedent, regressive orientation"
Females avoid unknown objects and situations where any danger or failure may lie ahead.
Females hope that the state of affairs they have been in, which has been so blessed, will continue to be so.

Females place more importance on following precedent than anything else. Precedent is "a mode of behavior that has already been established as safe and trouble-free if carried out as it should be. It is. Females dislike and try to avoid doing anything new, outside of the precedent.
Females are hesitant to go in and tackle something new, something they've never done before. Scared. Females wonder if someone else will do it for them. The female tries to pass the execution on to others. (Regressive nature). Females follow a precedent, a tradition, established by their seniors, that has already been confirmed as safe. Females are reluctant to deviate from them. They are good at imitating the success of others. Females are averse to trial and error. They don't value originality as a necessity. They respect people who know the precedent. They disdain those who make something out of nothing. Females are not inclined to think that there is a relationship of dominance, subordination or hierarchy between those who know the precedent and those who do not. The relationship is tight. It is the same for the mother-in-law relationship in the home as well as at school. (Emphasis on the seniority system. Emphasis on seniority.

Females need to move forward to do new things. In doing so, females dislike being first in line and prefer to be second (second place oriented). First place has to be spent in a hard, hard environment that eats a decent amount of wind. Second place has to spend time in a hard, wind-breaking environment, with the windbreak in front of them, so they don't have to deal with the wind directly. The second person will have an easier, safer environment to live in. A female can be a good example of someone trying something new and unknown (e.g., making a product, etc.) while making a series of mistakes. They decide to sit on the sidelines and wait while someone else tries something new (e.g., making a product), with repeated failures. The moment a female sees that "it's a success. The moment they see "that was a success," they imitate the pioneer's actions all at once. They make small improvements to it. Females send those results to society. As a result, females eradicate the first pioneer. (Copying, imitation-oriented).

Females do not like to change from their current so-so privileged environment. Females do not like to venture into a new environment, for example, leaving their current position or affiliation. They want to stay in a stable border environment for a long time (stability-oriented). This means, for example, continuing to work for a large company or government office. Females prefer their comfortable border status quo to remain unchanged (maintenance, status quo oriented). (Conservative, status quo oriented). This is "wanting to continue to be in an environment of favorable conditions. This is related to the "2.5. greenhouse orientation. This is related to "2.5.

Females put safety first and avoid danger. Females are not willing to venture into and explore uncharted territory and fields. They do not know what dangers lie ahead in the unknown. Females do not want to be the first to be exposed to new frontiers and knowledge that can be gained by entering unknown territory and fields. You can't. Males are the first to have access to such new findings and discoveries. Females, in this respect, are always one step later than males in gaining new knowledge. In this respect, in the development of technology and culture, "Females. A strong female society. is "Males. A society with a strong male population" always lags behind "A society with a strong male population. In this regard, "A society with a strong female presence" is invariably a step behind "A society with a strong male presence" in terms of technological and cultural development, compared to "A society with a strong male presence. (cultural backwardness).

A2-2. "Authority, Strong Authority Orientation"
Females think, "If I follow the authority, the powerful, I will be safe. Females believe that if they follow the authority and the powerful, they will keep themselves safe.
Females are proactive in doing so.
Females are attracted to and flirt with the "strong". (e.g., the powerful, the powerful, etc.) .
Females are attracted to and fall in love with "strong people" (e.g., powerful people, authority figures, etc.). A person in power or initiative is one who pushes things (e.g., the dating process) further and further and makes them aggressive. It is the one who is willing to take the lead, especially when it comes to the opposite sex. It is especially heterosexual males. The act is, for example, "walloping".
Females sincerely hope for a strong government, a dictatorship.
Females respect and obey the powerful, calling them "superiors".
Females love the culture and artifacts brought by the powerful. The strong are, for example, the Western powers.
Females want to follow authority figures and authoritative groups (e.g. Iemoto), and the authority and brand of the higher-ups. Vulnerable to. (Brand orientation). Authoritative people are, for example, teachers and superiors. The authoritative group is the head of the family, for example. Females seek to have authority figures who protect them decide their future actions. Females are obedient to the rules set by authority figures, and they abide by them. (Rule compliance orientation). Females obey and do not rebel outwardly when the rules are contrary to their true intentions. But females, in doing so, get stressed out. Then the female backslides and talks behind her back. (Face-obedience and disobedience.)
Females marry the strong, the authoritative, and try to produce their own offspring. She unites herself inseparably with the authoritative and strong. She leaves a life testimony of her own existence in the following form. The identification of the self with authority and with the powerful. . A life testimony of oneself is a 'copy' of oneself to be disseminated in society.

A2-3. "Avoidance of liability. To be relieved of liability.
Females fear that if they fail, they will be held accountable border and their social life will be cut off. (To meet ostracism from everyone around them. (The same is true for the other females. Being abandoned by others and not being able to get help in a time of need. To be subjected to accusations, ridicule, punishment, and disqualification. . Females try to avoid such dangerous and embarrassing situations. Females avoid responsibility there. She is made not responsible by society in the first place. She is relieved of responsibility.

(1)	Blame avoidance orientation. Blame-shifting orientation.	Females do not want to take responsibility for their own failures. Females want the following. "I wish someone else would take the blame for me. . She blames others. (Shifting blame). She makes it a joint and several responsibility.
(2)	Passive Orientation. (Acceptance.)	Females think the following. "If I were to voluntarily take an action, then I would be more responsible for the action I took. Then I would be more responsible for the action I took. . Females do not act on their own. Females exhibit a passive, passive attitude.
(3)	High status avoidance orientation.	Females are willing to take on high official positions and positions in society, where great responsibility arises. Avoid. Females do not try to be in charge. Females seek to be in "secondary" responsibility, not "primary" responsibility. Females aggressively push males into positions of responsibility and official high office. Females try to maintain a comfortable border position where they do not have to take responsibility.

(4)	Vague Orientation. Indirectly oriented.	Females think the following. 'Suppose I were to be direct and clear. . then the 'responsibility for the action I took' becomes more apparent. . The female tries to be indirect, indirect, far-fetched, iridescent and ambiguous.
(5)	Lack of self-determination. Obedience orientation. (Masochism.)	Females don't try to decide for themselves what their future will be or what actions they should take. They try to let others around them decide for them. They are obedient and unilateral, crying out in obedience to the decisions of others who are in a position to make them. Females listen to others. She is a masochist. When they fail, they can blame others for their decisions. She can avoid responsibility by doing so. Females prefer fortune-telling. It gives them advice on what to do in the future. Females let others make all the decisions for them. This makes them prone to a sense of victimhood "I'm being manipulated by others. ." They feel that they are being manipulated by others.

(6)	Decision avoidance orientation. Decision postponement.	Females are not willing to make decisions on their own. Females postpone decisions. A female thinks as follows: "Suppose I make a decision by myself. "Suppose I make a decision by myself. I will be held accountable border for it. . She is reluctant to do so and tries to avoid it.

(7)	The informality of domination.	The female thinks the following. "If I admit that I am officially the ruler of my society. I would then be 'consequently responsible for my dominance' over society. . So, even if she is in a position of domination, she will never admit this. Females argue that 'It is only males who rule society.' . (For example, in Japanese society, females and motherhood are substantially dominant. Females feminists make this claim there). . Females exercise "informal control" when they dominate society. Females do not, by themselves, become representatives of official bodies, which entails responsibility. Females become "managers" of the males they represent. (e.g., a mother or wife.) Females dominate society in a state of freedom from responsibility.

A2-4. "High Anxiety"
Females are sensitive to the possibility of danger that exists in their surroundings. They are exclusively concerned about when they may be in danger. They are fearful and timid. They are unsure of their own safety. They think they don't know when something threatening to their safety will appear in their vicinity. Females are frightened. Females want to have a sheltering presence to protect them. It is a bodyguard, an escort, to protect them. That is especially true of males.

A2-5. "Internal Orientation"
Females are oriented toward the following. 'to survive under better conditions'
Females avoid direct exposure to harsh external conditions. She avoids direct exposure to harsh external conditions, such as cold outside winds. She avoids direct exposure to a harsh external environment, such as the cold outside wind. She tries to stay in the inner sphere where warmth is constantly maintained. It is cut off from the external environment. Females prefer warm colors like pink, red, psychological warmth. (Greenhouse oriented.)).
Females avoid exposing themselves to the surface. It is the surface of the family or organization to which the self belongs. When a female is exposed to the surface, she is directly exposed to external, unseen, possibly dangerous, strangers, foreign enemies and You will have to face it. The female tries to stop inside, at the back. (Surface avoidance orientation.) (Surface avoidance orientation.) For example, the Japanese practice of referring to housewives as "wives". Females try to avoid being represented. It is to be the representative of the family or organization to which they belong. Representation is a position of direct exposure to the outside world as the face of the organization. (Representation avoidance orientation.) .

Females, let's go directly to the front lines of war and the business front and all that, where bullets are flying and danger is on the line. and not. Females will be exclusively responsible for providing logistical support, such as energy supply and drink distribution.

(Logistical orientation.) .
Females make sure that their targets are not exposed to the outside world. Targets include door handles, printers and other appliances, and the female's own self. The female will protect, conceal and dust them. Females prefer to cover, sheet, shroud and drape them. (Covering orientation. Exposure-avoidance oriented. .

A3. "Psychological Proximity" Females are psychologically close to each other, united, and try to help each other.

A3-1. "Orientation to Relationships"
Females bring people together with each other. Females enable people to cooperate with each other to overcome environmental adjustment difficulties. Females relate to each other. Females enable people to help each other in times of crisis.

(1)	Relationship building orientation. Relationship Maintenance Orientation. (Relationship essence view.)	Females are very good at relationships. Females value the relationship, the relationship itself. They are interested in human beings and try to get close to them. They are interested in the human form, like playing with dolls. 		them. They tend to adapt themselves to the trends in their surroundings. They try to integrate themselves into their surroundings. They try to maintain harmony and harmony with their surroundings.
(3)	Compact Orientation	Females prefer a dense state of being within a small space with others around them. This tendency is stronger for females than for males.
(4)	Majority Orientation. Majority-following orientation.	Females are more willing to adopt things that are in the majority or mainstream that everyone else around them adopts. They try to do so. Females try to be in the majority. Females like to have a lot of like-minded people in their midst.
(5)	"Mutual integration and fusion" orientation. (Emphasis on unity.)	Female tries to get closer to the object. Females are oriented toward unity and fusion with the object. She emphasizes oneness with the other person. They like to use the word "love". They lack objectivity. They are not objective and are unscientific. They tend to believe in religion and superstition. They tend to integrate, embrace, and swallow objects. This is what has been traditionally referred to as motherhood and affection. Females are adept at accepting and embracing the object. Females prefer things that are easy to psychologically unite with, or that they want to embrace, as "cute". Females heartily prefer a sloppy, love-hate relationship with a lover or something else.

(6)	Copy-oriented	Females try to take the good ideas that others have acquired and immediately copy them and put them on themselves. Do. Females try to show a sense of unity to others by copying. It is a sense of oneness, like the following. "I am now identical and homogeneous with you. I've caught up with you. You and I are in the same boat. .

		Females try to keep up with what's going on around them. They are busy trying to copy what's going on around them in an easy way. They don't pay much attention to the originality of the person who came up with the original idea.
(7)	Closure and Exclusivity Oriented	Females form a closed, exclusive group of close friends. Females always try to be that member. Females try to stay in a closed space, limited to members. Females seek repeated, stifling, mutual intimacy with the same peers. Females are reluctant to join strangers. Females think: "What if... "If I were to include a stranger in a group. ... the atmosphere of intimacy I've created with my peers would be lost.
(8)	Relative Evaluation Orientation	Females evaluate themselves in the form of a pecking order and comparison with their peers around them. Females are picky about how many times they are in a closed group or peer group. Suppose one person in a group of females sitting together is praised in a group of females who are in the same room together. Then the other same-sex peers would be in a bad mood, as they would be treated less well. As a female, if others are treated better and more favorably than she is. She sees the other as a rival. Females drag others down. Females are competitive with others to show their superiority.

(9)	Regulation, Lateralism and Equality Orientation	Females, avoid the following. 'Each shall engage in free competition. This creates a great disparity between them and each other, and creates jealousy in the minds of the losers for the winners. thing. In doing so, they disrupt each other's harmony, unity, harmony and cooperation. . Females do not like competition. (Non-competitive orientation.) Females do not like competition. Females want the following. They want to see as little disparity as possible between each other. That there should be no disparity between them. . Females seek to regulate the convoy and collusive system. Females try to drag the protruding ones back to a state of equality with everyone else. Females practice the following saying: "The stakes are high, the stakes are high. "The nail that sticks out gets hammered down. .

(10)	Orientation to a soft touch. Flexible orientation.	Females practice the following saying: "The stakes are high. Females, when they are in close proximity to each other, are able to maintain a comfortable border feeling when they bump into each other. to. Females make people soft, soft to the touch. Females prefer stuffed animals, etc., that bring a soft, soft touch to the skin. Females are seemingly weak. But females have the following strength. "Soft and pliable and unbreakable under pressure. .

(11)	Belonging Orientation	Females will always try to belong to some group. Females fear, more than anything else, the following. Not being accepted into any group and being left in a state of isolation. . Females are actively concerned about the reputation of the group they belong to (e.g., school, company, etc.).
(12)	Befriending and cohesion-oriented	Females demonstrate externally how close, harmonious, and united they are within their own group. They want to. The females have to match each other's belongings.
(13)	Gossip and bullying orientation	Females don't surface or bring to the surface the dissatisfaction within the group, outside the group. Females mend as if the group is doing well on the surface. Females emphasize that everyone gets along well with each other. Females talk behind the scenes, behind the scenes, behind the scenes, and make snide remarks. A female creates a scapegoat, an outlet for discontent, out of sight of others. Females bully that person by coming together with everyone else.

(14)	Exclusion-avoidance orientation	Females are concerned about not being excluded and left out of the group they belong to. Females use sycophancy to the mainstream of the group. Females say bad words about scapegoats, together.
(15)	Orientation of prominence	Females, in the group to which they belong, are "those who stick out beyond the limit. One whose individuality is too strong. as "one who disturbs the harmony, harmony and unity of the place. and ostracize "those who are too strong in character" as "disturbers of the harmony, harmony and unity of the place" and expel them from the group.

(16)	Convoyage-oriented	Females try to cohere with each other to create a fleet-like group for self-preservation.

(18)	Avoidance of free competition. Lateral Orientation	Females keep the group in line with each other, side by side. In this way, females try to avoid free competition.

A3-3. "Myopia of attention. Superficial attention. Peripheral nature of attention.
Females limit and focus their interest in things to the small and safe area around them.
Females are short-sighted in their view of things. Females's attention is exclusively focused on the following "A space within a short distance from where you are. . a short distance from where you are. . Females make practical decisions there. But females lack far-reaching planning. (Short-distance oriented. Short-time oriented. (Short distance oriented, short time oriented.) They are obsessed with the minutiae and minutiae of things. They try to keep a close eye on it. For example, a mother-in-law bullying her daughter-in-law. (Detailed, detail-oriented. . Females fail to see the big picture.

(Peripheral, end-orientated.)

Females are not interested in the essence of things, but rather in the decoration of their own branches and leaves (ornamentation-oriented). When purchasing personal items, females are less concerned about the function of the item (e.g., how the item will help them adapt to their environment). (e.g., how the item will help them to adapt to their environment). Females are more interested in how the item is decorated and how it looks. For example, the fashion and design of an item. (Functionality oriented.) . Females are close, shallow and superficial in their view of things. (Lack of depth of thought.)

female's attention is focused on the small, thin area around her. Females are sensitive to small changes in the atmosphere around them. Females have good skin senses to sense changes in their personal circumstances. They are sensitive to changes in their surroundings. They are sensitive to changes in their surroundings.

A3-4. "Smaller Scale (Limited Distributivity)
The realm in which safety is assured is smaller and more limited than the realm in which it is not. The scale of self-realization in that area is naturally small and uneven. Females prefer to be in such a safe realm.

Females try to limit themselves and distribute themselves within a small area of safety. Females do not attempt to go outside the safety frame.
Females seek to do the following within the confines of a small, limited sphere "Self-actualization. Achieving results. . Females think in a way that is trapped within a safe frame of reference.
female's own output, the product she produces, is female's products are those that are small in scale. That which lacks grandeur. . delicate. .
Females prefer things that are "pretty". It is small and small in scale, compact and small and cohesive. (Cuteness-oriented).

Females are less interested in huge organizations. Females prefer attuned to their surroundings. Males don't try to adapt themselves to the trends around them. Males try to treat themselves as different from others around them. They try to treat themselves as different and unique from others around them.

(3)	Wide distribution orientation	Males are largely distant from others around them. Males exist dispersed over a large area of each other. Males prefer to make their own territory, their own territory, as large as possible. Males do not like to be crowded. It is to be in a small space with others around them.
(4)	Minor Orientation. (Minority Orientation.) .	Males are more oriented to sparsely populated minorities than to psychologically dense majorities of people in their surroundings. I will.
(5)	Mutual separation, disconnected orientation	Males try to keep a certain distance from the object. Males tend to separate themselves from their subjects.

		They do not want to have an excessive sense of unity or fusion with their partners. They will try to disassociate themselves from objects. They are objective and scientific. They don't believe in religion or superstition. They are good at the following. They are able to look at things objectively, apart from themselves. .
(6)	Original Orientation	Males take the position that they are different from others. Males value the creation of their own original ideas. He will immediately and unconditionally copy the good ideas invented by others to himself. I do not do this. Males try to devise if they can come up with another idea independently. Males respect the originality of not only their own ideas, but also those of others.
(7)	Open-Oriented	Males have groups that form are open to the outside world. Males's groups are free to join that group at any time, even strangers, if they are recognized for their abilities and aptitudes. It can be done. Males's groups are easily interchangeable with the outside world, if necessary, by their members. Males's groups are only a means to an end. Males's groups are disbanded when their goals are accomplished. Males do not make the relationships among the group members their own goal.

(8)	Absolute evaluation orientation	Males evaluate themselves using global and absolute standards, not comparing themselves to their peers around them. . Males are more interested in the scores they get themselves. They are not interested in where their scores fall in the distribution of their group's scores. Not much interest. Males think, as follows. "If one person in a group sitting together is praised.

		The evaluation of me would be independent and unrelated to that. . Males are unfazed by that.
(9)	Free Competition Oriented	Males prefer to be unbounded by each other and to be able to move around individually and independently of each other. When choosing a means to gain an advantage over others, males prefer to be able to They like to be as unconstrained, dynamic and bold as possible. . Males are willing to accept the consequences of free competition, even if it results in disparity and hierarchy. Males must take responsibility for their actions. They will tolerate inequality. They want to be given equal opportunity at all times to start over and make up for the disparity when they fail.
(10)	Capabilityism. Pride in self ability.	Males try to measure a male's character by his ability to solve problems. Males have a high level of pride in their own abilities.

		Males rival others when they demonstrate higher abilities than themselves. Males try to show that they have higher ability.

(12)	Non-binding Orientation	Males, when they have an opening, try to stray apart from the group they belong to. Males try to assert themselves on their own, going in the direction they want to go with each other.
(13)	Discontent Expression Orientation	Males don't let their in-group frustrations dwell within. Males let it surface outside the group with ease. Males attack each other in the sight of others and quickly vent quickly.
(14)	Easy Withdrawal Orientation	Males will do the following with impunity "withdraw from the group to which they belong. . After leaving the group, the male will live comfortably on his own and independently. They see an opportunity to get quickly mixed up with the next group.

B3-3. "Attention to Remoteness. The spatiality of attention. The Big Picture of Attention.
Males keep an eye out for dangers and unusual occurrences. Males, therefore, keep a wide range of things in perspective, all at once.

Males want to have a long distance, long term outlook and plan. Males do not pay attention to familiar places and fine points. (Long distance, long time orientation.)
Males are able to perceive the real world as vertical and horizontal. Males are good at grasping large areas of space in three dimensions. (High spatial grasping ability.) . Males are capable of grasping the big picture. They have a wide perspective and a big-picture orientation. (Wide perspective, big picture oriented). Males are not interested in decorating the ends of the branches of goods. (They are ornamental oriented. Males are not finicky and are sketchy. (They are coarse.) Males are not interested in the function of the item itself. Males are interested in the function of an item itself. It is about how it helps them to adapt to their environment. (Function-oriented.) .

Males are oriented to depth and open space. (vast space attention oriented.) . They see vast spaces all at once. Males take distant, deep consideration of things. (Profoundness of thought.) .

B3-4. "Scale. (Unqualified distribution over a wide area.)
Males try to take the widest, largest possible area of their distribution. Males do not care if it goes beyond the bounds of what is safe for them.

Males are willing to strike out into areas where safety is not assured. Males test their abilities. Males seek to expand the territorial frame of viability. They actively go outside the safety zone. He tries to distribute over a wide area.
Then they try to achieve self-fulfillment or results, they do not limit themselves, but try to They try to take it big. Males think broadly and big, without being confined to a safe frame of reference.
Males's own achievements, their own productions, will be large and grand in scale. But it will be lacking in detail.

Males seek to belong to and advance within huge organizations. Males thus prefer to exercise influence and control on a large scale.

◎B4. Self-harm tolerance orientation

Males are themselves crude non-valuables. Males have no qualms about being hurt by external forces.

(1)	Collision-Oriented	Males do not avoid bumping into each other. Males do not avoid getting hurt or cracked in this way.
(2)	Dynamic Orientation	Males try to move fast in order to move through a large space at once. By moving fast, males allow themselves to take more damage when they bump into something.
(3)	Rude, Bold Orientation	Males see themselves as okay with being a little hurt by clashing with others around them. Males are brash and bold. The lines they draw are thick. (e.g. characters drawn by male comic artists.)

(4)	Destructive Orientation	Males try to destroy or break the person who has bumped into them.
(5)	Slaughter and roughness oriented	Males attack each other and others around them. The males try to make the place bleak and desolate.

◎B5. Attack, combat-oriented

Males aggressively attack others who are hostile to them. They try to destroy, subdue, and subdue others. In doing so, they are willing to be hurt to some extent as long as they win.
Males are constantly trying to find targets and opponents to attack.
Males want to create virtual enemies.
Males like to fight and kill people.

Considerations
It is not yet clear whether the following behaviors are innate or acquired and learned.
(1) Behaviour by females as biological valuables
(2) Behavior by males who treat themselves poorly

Conventional findings in cultural anthropology (e.g., M. Mead's study) show that "There are a small number of societies in which the gender roles of males and females are reversed from the norm. It has been stated that This is females acting as a "non-valuable commodity".

However, we can at least say the following.
Most, if not all, males and females in the present situation act in the following manner
(1) "Females act as valuables.

(2) "Males act as non-valuables.

This is the result of the failure of most of the following societies to adapt to their environment and perish.
(1) A society in which females did not act as a valuable commodity.
(2) A society in which females took their lives for granted. (For example, a society in which females have died more and more on the front lines in wars, etc.)

This is the result of the survival of only the following form of society: "A society in which females acted as valuables and males protected them. A society in which females act as valuables and males protect them.

A society in which females took their lives in stride has failed to adapt to its environment in the following ways.
(1) The number of females in that society, able to give birth to children, has been greatly reduced.
(2) The number of children born in that society has declined substantially accordingly.
(3) The consequence of this is that the society is no longer able to adequately reproduce its offspring.

This can be summarized as follows.
There may once have been quite a few societies in which females actively exposed themselves to danger.
However, those societies were eliminated by the environment that followed. It happened because "A society cannot survive if the number of children in it is less than it needs. .
Such societies have largely ceased to exist today.
Therefore, the following scheme has become a global phenomenon.
'Females are a precious commodity.'

Differences in the degree of biological valor create the roots of differences in the behavioral patterns of males and females.
From now on, sex psychologists and sex sociologists are going to have to look more closely at the varying degrees of biological preciousness of It should be directed at.

Males have no curfew.
Females often have a curfew. This is to keep females out of the house at late, dangerous hours of the night.

(4) If a female is in danger. (For example, a female is attacked by a thug.)
Males help females.
Then the female will love the male.
This pattern of content is often seen in anime shows.

In our society, it is the role of males to take an active role in dangerous situations. This is an ingrained idea.

When you venture into unprecedented territory. (For example, flying in space.)

In that situation, the male first gets on a spaceship. The male performs the following mission.
'We're not sure if we're going to make it, and we're breaking new ground with unknown dangers. thing.
In that situation, it's safe to say that females advancing, and males, with some success, have been able to After we know.

Females enter these precincts one step later than males.
Females send males, first and foremost, into their new environment.
Females use males as guinea pigs, in the form of a test subject.
Females try to get males to do things for them.
The female then examines the environment to see if it is okay.
Once a female feels comfortable border that it's okay, she begins to advance herself for the first time.

This is due to females's tendency to be self-preserving, to avoid danger.
Females are more likely to satisfy the fundamental human need for "self-preservation and the maintenance of one's basic life". Easy.
Females have a natural preference for such positions.
In this regard, females have a higher status than males.

The desire for one's life to continue is the most basic need of living things.
Males are easily intimidated by it.
Females, it is easier to maintain.

These differences in the way males and females are treated are influenced by the biological differences between the two.

[2.Biological Valuableness]

Sex differences between males and females at the genetic level of biology are "the greater or lesser value of the individual. The greater or lesser security orientation of individuals. directly linked to.
Biologically, humans are differentiated into two types.

(1) Rare individuals (female)

(2) Non-precious individuals (male)

Females are the bearers of eggs.
Females should not lose any more life than males.
Females are treated more important and respectfully than males.

Eggs are more valuable in terms of biological resources.

Eggs are less numerous than sperm.
Eggs are more expensive to produce than sperm.

(1) Difference in appearance.
The egg that a female carries is a deluxe figure with a large amount of nutrients.
The spermatozoa carried by males are "in a state where they are almost entirely genetic, except for the ben hair. It has a simple appearance.

(2) Differences in numbers.
The number of eggs is one.
The number of sperm corresponding to that one egg is in the tens of millions (a lot of them anyway).

Only one egg per month is put out carefully, each one.
Sperm are produced in the tens of millions at a time.

Sperm is clearly a crude product compared to eggs.

Females are valuable for more reasons than just the aspect of being the bearers of eggs.
Females are equipped with complex, precise mechanisms for child-rearing in their bodies. It is the crucial key to human reproduction. It is as follows.

(1) Uterus. The mechanism for growing a fertilized egg.
(2) Breast. A mechanism for feeding breast milk, the nourishment, to an infant who is born.

Males, on the other hand, either don't have them or, if they do, are functionally degenerate.

Females need to survive. That's because of the following reasons.

The child is not born.
The child, cannot be nurtured.
As a result, the number of children in the next generation will drop dramatically.

This would be more critically damaging to human society than if there were fewer males.

The above can be summarized in more detail as follows.
(1) Females as Valuables.
A female puts a lot of nutrients on her germ cells (eggs).
A female concentrates expensive mechanisms in her body, such as the nurturing mechanisms (uterus, breasts).
Females thus deluxe the germ cells, the making of the body.
(2) Males as expendable.
Males do not attach expensive mechanisms to both the germ cells (sperm) and the body.
Males, instead, become an "impulse" (protective wall) for their valuables (females).
Males protect females from the external environment. Males attach to their bodies the mechanisms (high stature, muscular strength, etc.) for this purpose.

Human reproduction. To increase the number of human beings born. In this respect, females are of more critical or decisive importance than males.
Hence, females need to survive better than males. It is a necessity for the society.

For example, suppose there is a society consisting of 10 males and 10 females.
Suppose they all have normal reproductive capacity.
Let's say there is a war, and all the males are going to the front lines.
Suppose that of the ten males who fought, only one survived.

One remaining male has sex with ten females. That sex takes place in an attempt to leave offspring in order to keep the society alive. Sex between a male and a female takes place with a good reading of the female's ovulation timing.
Then each female will have a child. That is ten children a year. By doing so, people can increase the number of human beings in the society efficiently.
On the other hand, suppose that in the event of war, all females, not males, go to the front lines.
Suppose that of the ten females who fought, only one survived.
One remaining female has sex with ten males to keep society alive.
But that's just one female, in a year, having one child.
This is because the female needs to grow a fertilized egg in the womb for several months.
In the meantime, the womb is monopolized by the unborn child.
There, no new ovulation will be made there either.
A female can have sex with any number of males and never have another child.
Thus, people can only increase the number of human beings in a society by one person per year.

The reproduction of life in society can be described as follows.
(1) Fewer males won't be a hindrance.
(2) If the number of females is reduced, there will be a major hindrance.

Females are the following beings in passing the baton of life to the next generation of humanity. We cannot afford to reduce their numbers, we must preserve them. .
Males are, to some extent, "expendable", which can be reduced in number.
Females are the more precious, vital resource. Females are a "precious commodity".

Humans do the following in an environment that is challenging for survival

Humans can have a significant reduction in the number of "consumables" without interfering with the reproduction of life.
Humans have significantly more germ cells in a single "expendable"

(male) individual than in a "valuable" (female) individual. Increase to.

Humans make it easier for valuables (females) to protect themselves.
Humans make consumables (males) easier to protect, and valuables easier to protect.
Humans control the behavior of each male and female.

The controls for that behavior are as follows.

(1) Females as Valuables.
Females take care of themselves. (Females have a strong sense of self-love and self-esteem.)
Females are sensitive to self-preservation. (Females only try to do what they know is safe.)

(2) Males as expendable.
Males protect females as their valuables. Males, themselves, are willing to disappear.
Males are not very strong in self-love and self-esteem.
Males are also less sensitive to self-preservation than females.

Females are sensitive to personal safety. Females avoid dangerous situations.
Males are forced to willingly confront the danger to themselves directly.

This is a manifestation of the following.
(1) The biological value of females.
(2) The biological non-valuableness of males.

Males stand at a disadvantage compared to females, including
(1) Males are in danger.
(2) Males are more likely to lose their lives.

This is sex discrimination (with males at a disadvantage. It is tied to.

The character of females as valuables is as follows.
(1) Safety Orientation.
(2) Follow the successes. (Fear and avoidance of failure.)
(3) Lack of a sense of adventure.
(4) Dependence on large organizations.

This is based on the awareness that females have of Females don't want to put themselves in harm's way.
Females see themselves as important and want to protect themselves. (Self-preservation.)

These set the tone for social psychology in a sedentary lifestyle centered society (e.g., Japanese society. (For example, Japanese society.)
Even the parts of society that are not inherently and directly related to sedentary lifestyle have been feminized to the point of character. (It has become more female-dominated oriented.)
This is happening because of the strength of females's social j forces. For example, the following can be seen.
(1) A mobile lifestyle centered society (e.g., Western) is led by males. Their societies are progressive and modern.
(2) A society dominated by sedentary lifestyle (e.g. Japan) is led by females. That society is invariably a step behind in progress, modernization, compared to the mobile lifestyle.

In sedentary lifestyle, people are more female-dominated. People are very safety oriented. (People do not willingly go into areas where they are not sure of their safety.

In mobile lifestyle, it is always the males who take the lead.
So, people life on the move are willing to go into dangerous places.
As a result, the people of the mobile lifestyle will always take the first place in their foray into new territory.

A female-led society (Japan) has been able to develop new ideas and new ways of thinking, as opposed to a male-led society (America). Only one cushion, with the introduction of institutions, technology, etc., will always delay the process.

This is a manifestation of this.

The "lack of originality" (i.e., constant imitation) is not a bad thing in a female-led, sedentary lifestyle centered society.
Females have a strong desire for safety and to avoid danger, failure.

Avoiding the willingness to enter the unknown is a natural part of being a female. This is due to the following reasons.
The uncharted territory is the first place in the world that humans have ever entered. We do not know what kind of dangers await us there.

n these perspectives, we can consider the following.
(1) Females's lives are heavier than those of males.
(2) Females are more likely to have their lives rescued than males.

The author confirmed that this idea was correct through a survey.
The reader is referred to the following text, for more information.
'An Examination of the Inequality of the Weight of Human Life.' .

[3.Cream-Bread Diagram]
After taking into account the above, biological differences between males and females, we consider the following
Considering the ecological distribution of human beings in their natural environment, we can say the following.
(1) Females are located more near the center, in a safe zone.
(2) Males are more likely to be in a remote, harsh, zone where they have to expose themselves to the external environment. Many are located.

Females are more prevalent in safe zones than males, even in other organisms other than humans.
As an example, the social structure of the fed macaque monkeys is given as follows. The social structure is as follows.

Centrally, females, predominantly distributed.
The males are only dominated by the leader (a few of them) who acts as the commander-in-chief.
The other males are all located on the outer edges. They wander the frontier, or, as a hitori monkey, alone.
The female is protected by the cushion formed by the male, which is like a piece of sandwich filling.

The above diagram can be summarized as the "cream-bread diagram".
The cream has the rich and precious contents that make cream buns the cream buns they are.
The cream is centrally located and less likely to receive direct external heat.
The bread is more crude than the cream.
The bread is directly exposed to external heat and baked to a crisp.
The bread itself provides a cushion (insulation) against the heat of the outside world. The bread protects the cream inside with its body.

The cream is a female. The bread is a male.
This can be seen as sex inequality in the form of males being at a disadvantage over females.
This sexism is probably biologically embedded within the psychological systems of each male and female.
It is assumed by people that it is a natural thing to have.

Males unconsciously and willingly confront dangerous situations.
Males willingly give up their natural "survival orientation" of human. It is the following orientation: "I want to survive. "I want to survive.
Those motivations are innate and embedded in males.

There is a biological basis for the following diagram.
(1) "Female" = "cream" (the being inside. A being that is protected.)
(2) "Males" = "bread" (an externally exposed entity. A protective presence.)

And as long as there is sex as an organism, the following diagram will continue to exist.

(1) "Female (cream)" = an inner being.
(2) "Male (Pan)" = an entity on the outside.

Nowadays, this kind of "females = inside" and "males = outside" picture has become ambiguous. The reasons for this are as follows. The reasons for this are as follows.

Science and technology have advanced to support the ease of human survival.
Correspondingly, the external or outer marginal area, which has been occupied by males, is now more secure than it was in the past. This is why females have started to move in there, more and more.

If we consider the "cream-bread" scheme in relation to the natural environment, we can see the following I can say.
In this thinking, I adopt the "underwater mental diagram". It draws concentric circles around water, which is essential for living things, including humans.
It is expressed as follows.
(1) "Inside the concentric circles. = (1) "Inside the concentric circles. = Agricultural areas. = sedentary lifestyle.
(2) "Outside of concentric circles = not much water = nomadic area. = mobile lifestyle.

Agricultural areas are closer to "water" and more likely to support life.
Agricultural areas are biologically valuable and female-oriented.

Nomadic areas are dry.
Nomadic areas are far from "water" and difficult to sustain life.
Nomadic areas are for males who are willing to die.

If we divide the area of human viability in nature into two parts: the inner perimeter and the outer perimeter, we get the following.
(1) "Area of the inner perimeter. = (2) "Region of the inner periphery. = (2) "Area of the inner periphery; = Area of easy survival. = Area of the cream.
(2) "The region of the outer edge. = (2) "Outer edge region. = (3)

"The region of the outer edge; = the region of difficult to survive. = The region of bread.

The "cream = inner perimeter" area is a wet area.
The "pan = external edge" region is a dry region,

This can be summarized as follows.
(1) Females = "wet existence. = (1) Females = "wet existence". = (2) Females = "wet existence" = oriented to a wet environment.
(2) Male = "dry existence. = (2) Male = "dry existence. = (2) Males = "dry existence" = an existence for an arid environment.

This indicates that the following two things are consistent
(1) The degree of dryness and wetness in terms of sex personality.
(2) The ecological distribution of males and females to the natural environment.

The following information is summarized in the following figure.

The "cream-bread" diagram above.
A list of the various "inner-periphery-outer-fringe" relationships discussed in connection with this.

[4. Twisting of the position of protecting and being protected (gender roles)]
Females (valuables) receive protection from males (consumables).
Females (valuables) are dependent on males (consumables).
Females are protected by males because of the high biological value they possess.
It's not so much "females, because they are vulnerable" as it is "females, because they are vulnerable".
Whether or not an individual is vulnerable depends on his or her ability to adapt to the natural environment.
Depending on the adaptability, the following conditions can also occur.
'A state in which males, as expendable males, are vulnerable and receive protection by females, who are valuable.'

There is a need to distinguish between the following two causes for individuals of one sex to receive protection from others of the other sex is.
(1) Valuableness.
(2) Vulnerability (based on "environmental maladjustment").

World feminism seems to have conflated this point with...

Females often behave as frail (e.g., afraid of bugs).
Females have a need to be protected.
From a biological and ecological perspective, this desire can be explained as follows.
Females are the "precious sex".
Females produce reproductively richer and fewer eggs.
Females are equipped in their bodies with the mechanisms necessary to raise children, which are key to reproduction.

Males produce crude, overproduced sperm.
Males can die or be hurt.

This difference creates the following protective desires for females
A female of the "precious sex" is protected by a male of the "lesser sex" from having to defend herself against I'd like to have.

This attitude by females can also be seen in sedentary lifestyle centered societies, such as Japan.
It contradicts the "fact that females are a powerful force in a sedentary lifestyle centered society, At first glance, it appears as if you are.
The true meaning of these females is as follows.
Females temporarily overshadow the "inherent strength that comes from being more conforming than males in terms of life, Hide.
Females rely on males as "guards" to protect them as their valuables, and only when it's convenient for them to do so. Do.
Females try to take advantage of males, to take advantage of them.

These attitudes of females in a sedentary lifestyle centered society cause
To give the illusion to the world as a whole that females are globally weaker than males.

There are all sorts of objects on earth that are protected by others, even if they are strong in their own right.
An example of this is natural diamond jewelry.

The hardness of the diamond is at its maximum.
Diamonds are capable of scarring everything but themselves.
But diamonds are put into jewelry boxes and carefully guarded by people.
The jewelry box protects the diamond. However, its presence is weaker than that of a diamond. A jewelry box can be easily scratched by a diamond if you scratch it.
As such a strong human, diamonds are carefully protected for the following reasons.
The reason for this is: "It is seldom available. It would be a terrible loss to lose it.

he reason for this is based on the preciousness of

As well as that, the following holds true.
Females in a sedentary lifestyle centered society are stronger than males.
But because of her biological preciousness, she is carefully protected from weak males.

There is no contradiction between "strength" and "being protected.

In a mobile lifestyle centered society, the recipients of protection are consistent with females in two dimensions .
(1) Dimensions of Valuableness.
(2) The dimension of "vulnerability" brought about by maladjustment to life.

In such a mobile lifestyle, the following scheme is easily established.
(1) "Males = protectors".
(2) "Females = the protected party".

In a sedentary lifestyle centered society, the recipients of protection contradict each other on these two dimensions.
(1) Dimensions of Valuableness. Here, females turn to a position of protection.
(2) The dimension of "vulnerability" brought about by maladjustment to life. Here, males turn to a position of protection.

Thus, in a sedentary lifestyle centered society, a clear picture like that of a mobile lifestyle centered society does not hold.
This has led to the following in world society confusion and delay in estimating the status of males and females. .

In a sedentary lifestyle centered society, females, who are biologically valuable and should be protected, protect males who are vulnerable in terms of their adjustment to life. I am.
This is the case with Japanese society, for example.
This can be seen as a "twist" between a position of protection and a position of being protected.

This can be summarized as follows.

Female		Safely (biologically valuable)
Male		Dangerous (non-precious)
Female	They are protected because they are biologically valuable.	They are protected because they are weak. (He is protected because he is maladjusted to his environment.	Comments
Sedentary lifestyle	○	x (strong)	There is a contradiction (a being who is both the protector and the protector).
Life on the Move	○	○ (weak)	No contradictions (an entity that is consistently in a position to be protected.

The "male-dominated" behavior in a sedentary lifestyle centered society can be captured as follows.
"Females. (A more adaptive presence in life.) (A being who is more adapted to life.)" while "A male. (A maladjusted presence in life.)

(maladjusted being)".
This is a one-sided burden for females and brings a sense of injustice. Females complain about males.

This behavior is incomprehensible in a mobile lifestyle centered society from the perspective of Females are only to be protected by males, one way or another.

In addition, in a sedentary lifestyle centered society, vulnerable males are arrogant and "deserve the support of females" and He has an attitude of.

The combination of these factors has led to the following misunderstandings in the world community.
Females in a sedentary lifestyle dominated society are slaves, forced to unilaterally obey males, and There is.

This is a far, far cry from the reality of the following in a sedentary lifestyle centered society.
Females, as strongmen adapting to a sedentary lifestyle, powerfully outnumbered males and took the mainstream path of society. I'm there.

In a sedentary lifestyle centered society, females, moreover, make a show of the following to the outside world
"Females are deliberately and needlessly making themselves more 'vulnerable' than they should be in order to have their own protection. It's there, and they pretend it's there.

This creates the illusion, in the world community, of a further
Males in a sedentary lifestyle centered society are subjecting vulnerable females to even more degradation and cruelty.

On the other hand, "ladies first" behavior in a mobile-centric society is As in, it can be taken as.
Male, unilaterally supportive behavior of a female.
Males. A more adaptive presence in life.
Female. "A maladjusted being. And existence as a valuable commodity.
That is unfair behavior for males.

Females seek the support of males, as they should, and with arrogance.
Males will be required to treat females like their servants.
As a result, the status of females is estimated to be high, contrary to the reality. That society appears to be a female-dominated society.

This leads feminists in Japan, for example, to take the following erroneous view
"The status of females is higher in the West (a mobile lifestyle dominated society) than in Japan (a sedentary lifestyle dominated society).
Japan (as a sedentary lifestyle dominated society) should take a lesson from the West (as a mobile lifestyle dominated society).

In a sedentary lifestyle centered society, gender role twists exist.
(1) Females's ability to adapt to sedentary lifestyle. Females's social strength based on this.
(2) The maladjustment to sedentary lifestyle caused by males. The resulting social weakness of males and their high need for social protection.

In a sedentary lifestyle centered society, the following conditions occur
(1) In terms of "biological value", females should be protected.
(2) In terms of "adaptability to sedentary lifestyle", males would be protected.

The majority of traditional studies on sex differences see "females as vulnerable, always to be protected.
The majority of conventional studies on sex differences have viewed females as "always protected and vulnerable.
They are unaware of these "gender role twists".

Biologically, "the male protects the female. is natural in view of its reproductive value.
The opposite is happening in a sedentary lifestyle centered society.
This is where "females protect males. This is the opposite of what is happening in a sedentary lifestyle dominated society.

hey are not the only ones who have the ability to make a difference.

A sedentary lifestyle centered society is a society with the following aspects
"Females protect males. "Females protect males. She takes care of the male in his life.

This aspect of females's protection of males is reflected in the maternal attitude of females towards males.

Sexual and marriage partners. Sex differences between males and females in their preferences for them.

(1)
Males are more oriented toward entering uncharted territory. It is based on the following. Possession of self-expansion in himself.
Males are oriented toward the owner of unchartedness in preference to the nonowner of unchartedness.
The virgin female. She possesses the following. Uncharted territory in the experience of sex.
Consequences.
Males prefer virgin females to non-virgin females as an advance.
Males prefer virgin females to non-virgin females for sex and marriage.

Females are more oriented toward following precedents where security is ensured. This is based on the following. Ownership of self-preservation in herself.
Females are oriented toward the ownership of precedent in preference to the non-possession of precedent.

The non-virgin male. He possesses the following. Ownership of sex experience. Ownership of precedent in sex experience.
Its consequences.
Females prefer nonvirgin males more than virgin males as a preference.
Females prefer nonvirginal males to virgin males as sexual and marital partners.

New equipment. Used equipment.
Equipment that has never been used before. Equipment with a precedent of use.
The living things prefer new equipment to used equipment.
Example. New equipment is more expensive than used equipment.
New real estate is more expensive than used real estate.
New reproductive equipment. Used reproductive equipment.
Males desire new sex from females. Males want to thoroughly eliminate the possibility of molestation by females beforehand.
Females want used sex from males. Females dislike inexperience in males as a risk factor.

An examination of the inequality of the weight of human life. -from the perspective of sex, age and status hose life is more serious, that of a male or that of a female? Are males or females more likely to be rescued from life?

[gist]
This was investigated through a survey.
As a result, we confirmed the following.
That people are capturing the following.
(1) A female's life is heavier than a male's life.
(2) A female's life is more important than a male's life.
For example, an ordinary high school girl is more deadly than a male prime minister.

1. Introduction

In human society, it has traditionally been argued that, from the perspective of human rights, the following is true "All people's lives are of equal weight and there should be no discrimination. .
But that's only on the surface.
In fact, there is considerable inequality in terms of the weight of life, depending on people's attributes. (e.g., age, sex, status, race.)
The text attempts to clarify some of this inequality regarding the weight of life, mainly in terms of sex and other factors The purpose of the project is to.

2. Hypothesis to be tested

Factors that determine the weight of people's lives may include, for example, the following.

	Factors that determine the weight of life	Indicators corresponding to factors	Relationships between indicators and factors	Comparison of the weight of life (hypothesis)
(1)	Potential	Age	The younger you are, the more promising you are.	Young people who have potential are more deadly than old people.
(2)	Biological	Sex		Precious

	Valuable		Eggs are less numerous than sperm. Females, as bearers of eggs, are more valuable than males, as bearers of sperm.	females are more deadly than males who are not.
(3)	High status	Position	The more major the position that is held, the higher the social and organizational status and importance of the position.	A male in a high office is more deadly than a male in a low office.

[1]The more one wears these factors, the heavier his life is.
Such a being is a higher priority and can save your life.
We need to make sure that this is the case.

For example, how does the weight of life differ depending on the following differences?
Are you in high school? An adult?
The Prime Minister? A civilian?
This can be summarized in the following table.

	Potential	Biological Valuable	High status
High school girls	○	○	-
High school boys	○	-	-
Female Prime Minister	-	○	○
Male Prime Minister	-	-	○

Female Clerk	-	○	-
Male Clerk	-	-	-

For example, in the above table, it follows that
(1) High school girls are both promising and biologically valuable.

(2) Females prime ministers are both biologically valuable and of high status.

(3) High school boys have only potential.
(4) Male prime ministers have only high status.

(5) A normal, average adult female (e.g., a middle-aged female clerk without a position. has no potential, no high status, and is only valuable.

(6) A normal, average adult male (e.g., a middle-aged male construction worker without a job title) has nothing to offer.

In addition, it is often the case that those who hold such high positions as the Prime Minister are of a certain age. .

High school students have a lot of potential, but their social status remains only an apprenticeship, not a high one.

[2] We need to make sure that each factor actually has a function in determining the weight of life.
For example, in terms of biological valuables, the following hypothesis holds true.
Precious females are more likely to have their lives saved than males who don't.

[3]The strong and weak relationships between the factors that determine the weight of life also need to be taken into account.
For example, the following hypothesis holds.
High school students have less prestige and more potential.
Older prime ministers have more prestige and less potential.
High school students have more weight in life than older prime ministers.

In this study, the main purpose is to confirm the following among the above.

(1) Does the difference in prospects (age) actually make a difference in the weight of life?
(2) Whether differences in biological preciousness (sex) actually make a difference in the weight of life?
(3) Does high status (position) actually make a difference in the weight of life?
(4) Which of the following has more influence on the weighting of life? Potential (age). Preciousness (sex). High status (position).

Specifically,
(1-1) High school boys.
(1-2) High school girls.

(2-1) Male Prime Minister.
(2-2) Female Prime Minister.

(3-1) Male Clerk.
(3-2) Female Clerk.
For the six types of
We shall ask them to compare the weight of their lives with each other in a round robin format and rank them.

3. Investigation procedure

A web-based questionnaire survey was conducted on the above items.

The methods are as follows.
(1) People gather to try out a psychological test to measure the degree of masculinity and femininity on a website. We did this for Internet users.
(2) The survey was done before they went to the page where they gave a specific description.

(3) It was done in the form of a barrier, imposing a response in the form of "Please answer this questionnaire first". It was.

Please refer to the Appendix at the end of this article for the question and the items to be answered.

4. survey results

Data from this survey (time of response collection, number of respondents, respondent demographics, and response results) For more information on this topic, please refer to the books in the Materials section.

From the current results,

(1) The priorities for saving lives by people were found to be as follows.
[rescue priority]Female high school students > male high school students > male high school students = female prime minister = female clerks > male prime minister > male clerks [rescue non-priority]

When comparing male prime ministers (high status) and high school girls (potential + biological valuables).
It is the high school girls who are more prioritized to help.
It is felt by people that

Compare the following two.
(1) The prime minister bears a heavy responsibility for Japan's society as a whole.
(2) An ordinary high school girl out there.

The results are as follows.
The life of an ordinary high school girl is easier to help and heavier than the life of a prime minister.
In terms of the weight of life, it is as follows.
High school girls are both promising and biologically valuable. High school girls are the strongest of all those we have compared.

(2) In relation to future prospects, we found the following.
[Life is heavy]Younger (high school students) (with potential) > Middle-aged (no potential)[Life is light]

'Younger high school students have more promise. Younger high school students are more likely to be helped and their lives are heavier than those in middle age.

(3) In relation to biological value, we found that [Life is heavy]Women (valuable) > Males (non-valuable)[Life is light]

"The more valuable females (egg bearers) are more likely to be helped than males (sperm bearers). And life is heavy.

(4) In relation to high status, we found the following.
[Life is heavy]Prime Minister (high status) (>) = Clerk (low status) [Life is light]

Specifically, they are as follows.
Male prime ministers are given a higher degree of priority and help than male clerks.
The degree to which female prime ministers are given greater priority and help than their female clerks remains the same.

"The Prime Minister holds a higher position. However, it is not always true that "The Prime Minister is perceived to have a heavier life than a clerk in a lower position. .
(5) In a comparison between factors that determine the weight of life, we found the following.
[Life is heavy]Potential (high school students) (>) = Biological preciousness (female) > High status (prime minister)[Life is light]

(Details)
[life is heavy]Potential ONLY (high school boys) (>) = biological preciousness ONLY (middle-aged female clerk) [life is light]

[life is heavy]Biological preciousness ONLY (middle-aged female clerk) > High status ONLY (middle-aged male prime minister)[life is light]
[Life is heavy]Prospects ONLY (high school boys) > High status ONLY (middle-aged male prime minister) [Life is light]

Here are the following results.
'A high school boy with prospects only is to some extent more life heavy than a middle-aged female clerk with preciousness only. However, the difference did not reach the 0.01 level of significance. On the other hand, the following results were obtained.
High school boys are significantly easier to help and more deadly than middle-aged male prime ministers of high status only.

Here again, the following results were obtained.
Middle-aged female clerks who are only valuable are significantly more likely to be helped than middle-aged male prime ministers who are only high-status. Your life is heavy.

5. Summary

The weight of human life, traditionally regarded as equal due to human rights considerations, is actually a condition The disparity was shown to be disparate by Specifically, the web-based questionnaire survey revealed the following results.
(1) Young people have heavier lives than middle-aged people. (Prospective dimension.)
(2) Females, more than males, have a heavier life. (Dimensions of Biological Valuableness.)
(3) Social status (position) is not necessarily related to the weight of life.
(4) Prospectivity and, somewhat later, biological valor are important in determining the weight of life. Social status (position) matters less than the above two.

Female. Male. Its spatial distribution. Its external environment.

The author has summarized the following into a simple diagram. Females and males. Spatial distribution in relation to the external environment. The difference between them.
(1)
(1-1)
The female comes together on the inside.

(1-2)
Females become a group.
Females become a mass.

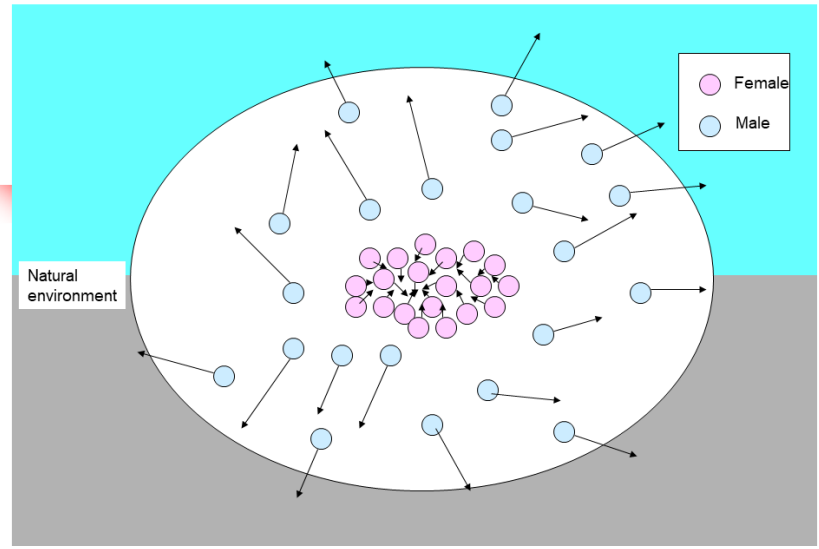
(2)
(2-1)
Males are distributed on the outside of females.
Males to protect females.
Males exposed to
The external environment.
It is harsh.

Males are confronted with it.

(2-2)

Males disperse.

Illustration of the distribution of males and females.



Female, distributional characteristics.
Putting her own protection and safety first.
Do not do anything dangerous. Not moving into risky territory.
Being regressive. Don't go into new and unknown territory where she doesn't know what to expect.
Not exposing herself to the harsh natural environment. Do not go outward. Stopping inside or deep inside, where it is safe.
To move together in a group or group of people in a safe interior.
Convoy.
To move in close proximity and interdependence with one another.
To aim for harmony or concord within or among people.
To try to move slowly, gently and minutely, without speed.
To be liquid. To be wet.

Her own attempt to be protected by males.
An outer wall or fortress to protect herself.

A shield to protect herself.
She must be able to defend herself inside them without problems.
A male who can be used for such purposes for her.
Preference for such a male as a companion.
To choose such a male as a marriage partner.

Example.
A male who is taller than she is.
A male who earns more money than she does.
A male who is more intelligent than she is.
A male who is more muscular and stronger than she is.
A male who is actively trying to protect her.

Male, distributional characteristics.
Trying to protect the female while he, himself, goes with abandon.
Willingness to do dangerous things. Willingness to move into risky territory.
To be enterprising. Trying to expand and spread out into new and uncharted territory, not knowing what is out there.
Proactive exposure to harsh natural environments. To go outward.
To move outward in a discrete, individual manner.
To try to be separate and independent from each other. To be outwardly oriented toward openness.
Trying to speed up, to move fast and coarse.
To be gaseous. To be dry.

(2)
Male superiors.
The male ruler.
It is the following.
The universal being.
It is based on
Male Nature.
Self-expanding nature.

Male hierarchy. Female hierarchy.

(1)
Male hierarchy.
It is a radio tower type.
It is a radio tower with a truss structure.
Example.
Eiffel Tower.

It is like steel.
It is cold and hard.
It is thin, but unbreakable.
It is clear and sharp.
It is discrete.
It stretches very high into the sky.

Males build such a hierarchical relationship.

There, people who are as follows are higher.
They are higher in altitude.
They have a large dominant area.
They monopolize resources.

The above is generally true of people in male-dominated societies.

(2)
Female hierarchy.
It is of the escalator type.
The escalator is wide.

The people who ride the escalator.
They become higher as time goes by.
Seniority.
Following and accumulating precedents.
The higher the degree, the higher they become.
Center and periphery.
The more they are in the center, the higher they are.

They ride it all the way to the end of their lives.
It will last as long as there is no restructuring due to environmental changes.

There, the following people are higher up.
The topmost central position.
The person who rides it.

(2-1)
The following special cases exist there.
Memorization of precedents.
Understanding of precedents.
A person who is good at them.
They are socially allowed to board the escalator at high speed, specially.
Example.
People who have passed the advanced level of the National Civil Service Examination.

(2-2)
There, the following escalators exist.
An escalator with a high entrance from the beginning.
The escalator will be boarded by the following people.
The descendants of people who own vested interests.

The above is generally true for people in female-dominated societies.

Why there are so few females in science.

Females prefer to be in crowded places.
This is advantageous for the realization of females's self-preservation.

Females like to be in the center of the city.
There are many people in the center.
This is advantageous for the realization of females's self-centeredness.

Females prefer human groups.
Females prefer to belong to and settle in human groups.
Females are human-oriented.

The content of the humanities is the human being in general.
It is the center.

Females look up to and respect workers in the humanities.

The content of the sciences is non-human.
The content of the sciences is a calm, objective view of human.
The content of science is the uninhabited environment.
The content of science is that there are few people.
Where there are few people.
It is the periphery.

Females see the content of science as the work of the periphery.
Females look down on and despise the periphery.
Females look down on and despise science workers.
Females do not want to be a peripheral.

Females do not want to be science workers.
Therefore, the number of females in science will not increase forever.

The academic performance of girls in school is better and higher than that of boys at school. The reason.

School. It is a place where the following education takes place.
Learning and studying precedents.

Grading criteria for school tests.
It measures how much of the precedent has been memorized and understood.

The ability to memorize a precedent perfectly, like a mirror, without a single gap or cloud.
Females have this ability in abundance.
Males do not have this ability in abundance.
Therefore, females have an overwhelming advantage in school tests.
Therefore, females's performance in school is superior to that of males.
Academic achievement is measured as higher for females and lower for males.

The ability to generate new and unprecedented knowledge.
Males have this ability in abundance.
Existing school tests have a hard time measuring it.
Enabling that measurement is a new need in school testing.

Males as history-making sex. Its inferiority. Female as a sex that does not make history. Its superiority.

The body of the valuables is protected and stored in an important place, except that its inventory and list are read.
So valuables do not need to appear on the front lines of history where slashing, beating, and roughing things up are rampant.
Valuables that are hidden in the back of the room to prevent harm.
It is, namely, a female.
The main actors who appear at the forefront of history and make history are the expendable, disposable items that are acceptable to cut down and sorry. That is to say, males.
Females do not appear in history. This is because females have always been guarded in the back as a kind of treasure, a prized possession, and rarely appear on the stage of history themselves.
The claim that it is males who have made history. That claim is, at first glance, a proud claim for males. But that claim is a manifestation of the miserable masculinity as a disposable, expendable commodity that he himself was forced to fight in the open, even if he didn't like it. That claim is a symbol of male inferiority. That assertion is a manifestation of female superiority.

A female should not leave her name in the family tree.
This is also for the same reason as above.
She herself exposes her name.
This is because it is the same as the following.
To expose herself to the surface.
To put herself in danger.

Why are females so reluctant to assume the number one position in society?

The number one position in society.
It is the most dangerous position in a society.

Females act with self-preservation as their top priority.
Females avoid dangerous social positions and stay in the safe zone.
Therefore, females avoid assuming dangerous social positions.
Hence, females avoid assuming the position of number one social rank.

The number one position in society.
Why is this position dangerous?
Suppose a person is in that position.
If a person holds that position, he or she will be responsible for all the failures of society.
He or she will suffer a great deal of social damage as a result.
In some cases, that person will die.
This will be painful and fatal to his own self-preservation.
A female puts her own self-preservation first.
She avoids causing any damage to herself.
Hence, females do not take up their positions.

On the other hand, a person in that position attracts the attention of all people in the society.
The person in that position can exist in the center of the society.
The appointment to the position.
It fundamentally satisfies the self-centeredness of females.
In fact, females are eager to assume such a position if there is no danger.

There are two ways a female can take.

(1)
The number one position in society.
To assume that position.
A sacrifice that will take her place when she herself fails to run the society.
Always have that ready.

If she herself fails to manage the society.
Maintain an attitude of irresponsibility and shifting the blame from beginning to end.
Completely prohibit any criticism of herself.
Suppressing criticism of herself with tyrannical attitude.
Make it possible to do so at all times.
Legislation should be put in place to make this possible.

The number one position in society.
To reign in that position for life.
To stay in that position for as long as she herself is alive, by any means necessary.
By doing so, she will continue to realize her own self-centeredness to perfection during her own lifetime.

(2)
The position of number two in the social hierarchy.
To assume this position.
At the same time, to cajole and manipulate a person in the number one position in society.

Example.
Mother-child relationship.
A hierarchical relationship between a parent and a child based on that relationship.
To place a son in the number one position in society.
The mother, as the parent, effectively becomes the person in the number one position in society.

Example.
A husband and wife relationship.
A husband and wife establish a company together.
The husband should be given the number one position in society.
The wife is to take control of the accounting authority and effectively become the person in the number one position in society.

By doing so, she will effectively become the person with the number one position in society.

A sacrifice to take her place when society fails.
To force the role on the person in the number one position in society.
To make this possible at all times.

Why do people try to call out the male in charge? Why do people avoid calling for a female to be in charge?

The status of a socially responsible person.
It is a more dangerous position in that society.

Females act with self-preservation as their top priority.
Females avoid dangerous social positions and stay in the safe zone.
Therefore, females avoid assuming dangerous social positions.
Hence, females avoid assuming positions of social responsibility.

On the other hand, a person in that position attracts the attention of the public.
The person in that position can get closer to the center of the society.
Assumption of the position.
It fundamentally satisfies the self-centeredness of females.
In fact, a female is eager to assume a position if there is no danger.

Hence, females often take on positions of social responsibility.
This person will take full responsibility for the failure of the society.

The person will be severely damaged socially as a result.
In some cases, the person will die.
Females are desperate to avoid such a situation from occurring.

A female assumes a position of social responsibility.
When a female fails to run a society.
Someone makes a complaint about it.
If a person calls the person in charge of the female.

Such actions by the female.
It is based on her own nature of self-preservation.
The act is effective for the preservation of the human species.

However, the act is harmful to the person who made the complaint.

If all the people in the society are troubled and complain.
The above action by the female.
This act is harmful to the society as a whole.

To prevent such a socially harmful situation.
In order to do so, we need to do the following.
It is as follows.
Call out only those responsible who are males.
Do not call out female managers.
Only males should be in charge.
Do not allow females to be in charge.

Feminophobia in a male-dominated society.

People in male-dominated societies.
They will never, ever acknowledge the existence of a female-dominated society.
They will never accept the values of a female-dominated society.
Example.
The emphasis on harmony and unity of the whole society in Russia and China.

They never recognize the superiority of females.
They never recognize the superiority of the egg over the sperm.

They fundamentally lack the following.
The ability to conduct impartial research on sex differences between males and females.

They have a latent fear of females.

They potentially have a strong fear of a female-dominated society.

Their background.
The process of fertilization of sperm and egg.
The massacre of a large number of sperm in the female organism.
Only one sperm is allowed by the egg to survive in the end.
During sperm and egg fertilization.
The sperm is unilaterally engulfed and dismantled by the egg.
Result.
The sperm loses the following characteristics.
Individual behavior.
Free behavior.
Individual independence.
Openness.
The sperm is forced by the egg the following situation.
To be permanently trapped inside the egg, never to be released.
Total immersion in the oocyte's internal fluid, losing its desiccation and becoming wet.
Unification with the ovum.
Harmony within the egg.

The male has a deep-seated fear of the following.
To be swallowed up and confined by the female, prohibited from individual action, freedom of movement, and independence, and subjected to tyrannical rule.

Male-dominated societies have a deep-seated fear of the following.
To be swallowed up, confined, and subjected to tyrannical rule by a female-dominated society that prohibits individual action, freedom of movement, and independence.

The core of society.
A blood group.
The removal of females from within it, and their entry into corporate labor.
To be very enthusiastic about achieving this.
So eager about the masculinization of females.
It is gender equality for a male-dominated society.
It is the disappearance of social gender inequalities in a male-dominated society.

The femininity of females in a male-dominated society.
It is to aim for its eradication with great enthusiasm.
Such social movements are driven by latent fear of females.

They are, after all, about the following.
From a biological point of view.
The superiority of the egg over the sperm.
The superiority of the female over the male.
The superiority of a female-dominated society over a male-dominated society.
The direct reflection of the nature and social behavior of the egg on the nature and social behavior of the female.

A system of social tyranny. Females are the source of tyranny in society.
A system of social seclusion. Females are the source of seclusion in society.
They are a reflection of the following.
The hermetic containment and monopolization of the fetus by the mother's uterus, through the amniotic fluid, and the exclusive and exclusive supply of nutrients to the fetus.
The hermetic containment and monopolization of the sperm by the egg as it rushes in for fertilization through the cell membrane.
They are an extension of the following.
The mother-child relationship.
The superior, as the mother. The subordinate as the fetus.
Superior, as mother. The subordinate, as the child.

Thinking of things as either encompassing the object or being encompassed by the object.
To include the object. It is love.
To be included in the object. It is indulgence.
If the object possesses qualities worthy of inclusion. The object is referred to by females and feminized males as: "You're pretty."
Such feminine thoughts.
It is possible to call them as follows.
Womb-like thinking. Thinking based on mathematical sets.

Females and the observance of rules.

Females's compliance with the rules.
It consists of the following.
Obedience to rules. Tyrannical enforcement of rules.
A female faithfully obeys the rules set by her superiors. She is obedient and submissive to those rules.

A female unilaterally and tyrannically enforces her own rules on her subordinates, with or without their consent.

Females, sex and power.

General Discussion. Females, Sex and Power.

A female thinks the following.
I have great sexual value.
I have sexual attraction.
I am constantly inviting the following sexually.
unspecified males.
////

I have the following
The ability to continue to entice males sexually.
I have male attraction.

Females are the following.

Metaphor.
A being that keeps attracting various bugs to itself.
The being that does it artificially.
A being that does it without limit.
A mothball light.

Actual.
A being who attracts various males sexually.
One that keeps drawing them to him.
One who does it artificially.
A being that does it without limit.
A bio-infantilizer.

Females hate the following.

Males.
He's not my kind of guy.
He's not what I'm expecting.
That such a male would come to me.
That such a male would come to me.

Females don't have the means to prevent it.
Females don't do anything about it on their own.
Males come to females on their own.
This is because of
A female's own powerful sexual attraction.

Females can do the following things without making a move
Be selective about males.

Females view males as beings who approach them on their own.
Females do not necessarily want that.
She sees them as Irresistible pressure.
Females tend to hold the following against these males
A strong sense of victimhood.
Females tend to focus their romantic attention on a few popular males.
Females dislike the majority of unattractive males.
Females avoid them.
Suppose that the following occurs
(1) below, to (2) below, and (3) below.
(1) A popular human.
(2) A female other than herself.
(3) Shifting eyes.
Then she thinks
////
Males were supposed to come to me.
////

Females consider the following.

I have had a male taken from me without my permission.
My sexuality has been unfairly undermined.

The female is vehemently harmed by (2) above.

Females believe that
A subject being who chooses males. It is a female.
Suppose a male tries to decide it.
Then, females are furiously opposed to it.

If a female thinks she is unattractive, she thinks as follows.
Males are blind to me.
Males are bad.

Females don't want to think about the following.
I have no sexual attraction to me.

= = = =

Persistence of one's sexual attraction.
Females take it for granted.
Females continue to wear makeup and dieting.
Females age.
Females's appearance is devastated.
But they continue to do so.
A female is actively concerned about her own age.
This is a result of the following.

As females age, they become less and less attractive
Physical sexual attractiveness.
A female's eggs. It deteriorates with age.
As a result, females quickly reach a time limit for
The ability to produce

Her own genetic offspring.

Their age is relatively young compared to males.

Females attempt to
For (1) below, do (3) below.
Complete it before (2) of the following occurs
(1) their own genetic offspring.
(2) To reach the following. Time limit on age.
(3) To leave, somehow. To attempt it.

That is a uniquely female-dominated way of acting.
It's pre-built into the female's mind, genetically.

Females are actively concerned about
Superiority over other females.
Physical proportions. Makeup. Clothing.
Females are obsessed with diet and fashion.
They are also directly related to Sexual attraction to males. The increase or decrease of sexual attraction to males.
Females desperately want to improve them.

= = = =

Females believe that
////
A female has all of the following in her power
The right to life or death in sex.
The right to make sex decisions is a female's property.
////

Females are the following.
////
An entity that occupies the right to license sex.
Sexual ruler.
A person in sexual power.

A sexually powerful person.
Sexual superiors.

Females thus behave in a superior and pompous manner towards males.
Females regard males as

The right to make sex decisions.
He can't have it.
He is the next.
A lowly existence.

Suppose a male tries to enforce it.
Then, the female would be furious.
Females will look down on males.
Females become arrogant towards males.
Females complain about the following
It is one-sided.
It is repeated.
////
A male's approach to a date.
A male's offer of a date plan.

Females criticize males for their superiority.
Females, on the other hand, are criticized by males.
Then, females cannot stand it.
Females immediately lose their temper.
Females demand the following from males.
////
Treating me with respect.
Disciplines towards me.
Attention to me.
Pleasantries to me.

A female performs the following (2) in (1)

Males disregard the following
My sexual worth.
My sexual power.

Females view their flesh and blood bodies and genitals as supreme and inviolable.
Males approach them in a casual manner.
They touch them.
They touch them.
Females react violently and angrily.

Females have less muscle strength than males.
Females are not able to prevent rape.

Suppose that a female is raped.
Then the female is (2) below for (1) below.
(1) The right to decide on sex.
(2) A unilateral violation.

It is a female's possession.
The female rants about it as a crime.

A female shall be (1) for (2) below.
(1) muscular males.
(2) I feel the following about him. Sexual attraction.

She asks such males to
(1) Protect herself.
(2) Carry heavy objects.

Suppose a male rapes a female.
He is then disliked by the female.

Female.
She is the male's own true love.
////
A male has a fondness for her.
He considers marrying her.
He needs to do the following with her
Avoid being rejected by her.
Approach her politely in order to avoid being rejected by her.

It is difficult for males to
Carelessly do the following things to such females
Have selfish, self-centered, selfish sex.
Eventually, males will do the following
(P) He moves at the pace the females want him to.

Here's how it works.
The following (1) performs the following (3) against the following (2).
(1) Females.
(2) Males.
(3) Instruct on the following. It shall be done naturally.
(3-1) To perform (P) above.

(2)
Females criticize the following.
Males's sexual behavior.
(3)
Females mount the following.
Sexually indulgent females.
(4)

They interfere with the presence of
////
A female.
She has the following.
A sexually attractive body.

(5)
A female seeks to increase her worth.
She degrades others in order to do so.
Females do so in a cowardly way.
They don't think anything of it.

They are usually very active in Appeal to chastity.
When such a female is raped, she thinks the following.
////
My sexual value.
My inability to sexually exploit it.
My reputation for it.
They went downhill.
I became sexually promiscuous.
The way people around me looked at me.
It got harder.
It became overly sexualized.
In my womb, the following remains.
The male who raped me.
His sperm.
I will have the following possibilities
To become pregnant with
The male who raped me.
A child.
I will be unhappy with the male who raped me.
////

Males fundamentally dislike the following
Being forced to raise someone else's children unilaterally.
And so
Females are shy, shy of the following.
Females do not want to do the following.

She tries to hide the following.
Being raped.
Letting others know that she was raped.
////
Females have difficulty in reporting the rape to the police.

= = = =

They do not want the following to happen
The inferior male gene should be allowed to survive in society.
Females will avoid at all costs the following (2) acts with (1)
(1) Subordinate males. Vulnerable males.
(2) Sex. Love. Marriage.
Females do not feed the weak human.
A female does, even if she herself is in a state of
She has a high income.
She has financial power.

Males must get the attention of females. The realization of this.
In order to do so, males need to do the following
Desperately appeal to females with the following
////
Attractiveness of looks.
Competence.
Competitive edge.
Being in the upper echelons of society.
To have the potential to
From now on, to be at the top of society.

Dating. Sex. Marriage. Activities for them.
Females focus on the superior male in those.

A female performs the following (2) in response to (1)

(1) males. He achieves the following (1-2) for (1-1)
(1-1) her own self-preservation. Its realization. Its potential.
(1-2) The pulling up. That range is great.
(2) To date. Having sex. Getting married.
Females continue to wait for the following.
That such a male would come to me and find me.
That he should like me.
That he should propose to me.

= = = =

A statement that is acceptable to females. Males need to do that, often.
Human-accepting statements. Females don't need to do it so much.
Males will approach females without it.

In (1) below, the female performs the following (4) in response to (2) below, with an attitude of (3) below
(1) Sex.
(2) Males.

(3)
A female does this with the following perspectives
////
A superior perspective.
A one-sided perspective.
A harsh look.

(4) The following shall be examined.
////
Foreplay on me.
Sex with me.

The execution of it.
The middle of it.

Being good at Being a technician at

Giving me sexual pleasure.

Suppose a female thinks a male is bad at it.
Then the female pretends to be an assessor.
An evaluation by her. It is one-sided.
She is quick to criticize.
She rejects unskilled males for the following reasons
Personality discrepancies.
Males must be highly skilled in
Technique during sex.
Foreplay.
During sex.

Otherwise, males will have difficulty
////
Reaching marriage to a female.
To sustain that marriage.
The female will, during (1) the following (2), for the purpose of (3)

In doing so, females will soon bring to males the sexual limitations.
Females make males feel sexually deflated.
A female calls a male a
////
You're a useless human!
Are you not an adulterer?
You are impotent! You can't!
You should be able to sustain oneself more, sexually!
You should try harder!
Females, in doing so, achieve the following

For females, the following is also possible
A female deliberately calls males, in the following manner.

During sex, a male must Allow the female to experience the following
The realization of the following.
A variety of sexual pleasures.

Females make males do the following unilaterally
Continually give her sexual pleasure.
Females appreciate the results.
This is harsh on males.

Giving sexual pleasure.
The relationship between a male and a female is as follows.
The male is at the service of the female.
The male is subordinate to the female.
It is one-sided.

= = = =

Suppose that a female thought the following.
I want to dominate males.

The art of sex in males.
The female deliberately calls it, in reference to.

Females take control of
The right to make sex decisions.
The female is the authority.

Her consent.
Suppose that was never the case.
Then a male cannot have sex with a female.

The conduct of sex.
The rules.
It's what she wants it to be.
She decides it arbitrarily and selfishly.
Females unilaterally impose them on males.

= = = =

A typical example of this is the following.
A female unilaterally enforces the following on a male.
During sex.
Sexual climax.
The reaching of it.
The timing of it.
Getting them in sync with each other.
////
In sex, both males and females reach sexual climax.

Males think as follows.
////
Both males and females should reach their climaxes at different times during sex, as they please.
The timing.
The need to match it with the male and the female.
There's no need for that.
////

Females are very particular about
The timing of a male's ejaculation.
To reach their own sexual climax at the exact same time.

Females are generally concerned with synchronize their actions with those of their partner.
In doing so, they achieve the following
A sense of mutual oneness with the partner.
////

This is also reflected in sex.

The timing of a male's ejaculation.
Suppose that it is earlier than the female expects.
The female curses the male in the following way.
////
You're a quick ejaculator!
You're no use to me, human!

Suppose that it is slower than the female expects.

The female curses the male, as follows.
////
You're a late ejaculator!
Your sexual functioning is in question.
You and I are not compatible with each other.
You are a bad human!
////
These are both, for males, less painful psychological damage.

Females take advantage of this.
Females deliberately and arbitrarily pronounce on males as follows.
////
You're a quick ejaculator!
////
You're a late ejaculator!
////
You satisfy me sexually!
You're going to have to work a lot more radically for it!
////
Females can achieve the following by doing so
Bring males to their knees.
And females can achieve the following devalue these males, sexually.
It is one-sided for males.

= = = =

Females do the following for males
////
Compatibility in terms of sex.
That is, making a one-sided decision.
////
Whether or not to fire a partner.
Making a unilateral decision to do so.
////

Females are to males what they are to like a boss.

Males think of themselves as
////
I want to have a relationship with a female.
////
In order to do so, males have no choice but to obey females.

This is the nature of sex between a male and a female.

When a female wants to wield power over a male.
Females should take advantage of it.

A female reminds a male that
It is convenient for females.

(1)
Sex outcomes.
Its evaluation and diagnosis.
Its authority.

Marital relationships.
The continuation of them.

Females take the lead over males in the above.

Let's aggressively advocate and promote it socially.

Females outperform males in the following
The number of sexual climaxes.

Females are capable of
Have an infinite number of sexual climaxes.

Females are truly a bottomless pit in terms of
The intensity of sexual desire.

Females, by nature, love sex.
So, the following should be corrected.

Human is a species of living things.
Humans are a kind of animal.
Both males and females love sex.

Human males and females have a very strong sex drive.
This is essential for the following to happen
That males and females, as living things, produce genetic offspring.

People should make this fact known to the public.

The following characteristics or qualities of human beings
////
It is a living thing.
It has an intrinsic need for sex.
////
People should be more aware of them.

Females with chaste appeal.
They, too, have a biological organism inside that is covered in sexual desire.

A female's body.
The making of her organism.
That's what it is.

The sexual pleasure of a female's clitoris.
It is interchangeable with the male penis.
Or it is area-dense.
It is more intense than the male.

The following sexual pleasures are also very strong in females
////
Vaginal volvulus.
Nipples.

Let's say a female's vagina is filled with a male organ.
Then the female would be very satisfied, mentally.

Females, by nature, appeal to sex.

Traditionally, the following (1) is often claimed for (2) below.
(1)
Sexual Harm.
Sexual abuse.

(2-1)
They are done unilaterally by males and against females.
(2-2)
Males have a strong sex drive.
Females have a low sex drive.

However, the following counter-evidence can be considered for this.
Example.
A married, middle-aged human.
His wife.
She has completely lost the following.
Sexual Attraction.
////
She is middle-aged.
She is an aunt.

She is, inordinately strong in the following.
sexual desire.

A male is becoming less and less capable of his own sexual prowess.

However, a male is compelled to
His sexual services to his wife.

A male is forced to do this, night after night.

His own energy.
It is already in short supply.
He is continuously sucked dry by his wife.

These males receive the following from their wives.
Sexual Harm.
Sexual Abuse.
////

This is due to the following
Females's sexual appetite.

A male has his children held hostage by his wife.
Suppose a male divorces his wife.
He is deprived of the following

He will be financially ruined.
So he can't even get a divorce.

The following should be recognized

Females's clothing. Its attractiveness. Its sexual attractiveness.

The skirt. Its attractiveness. Its sexual attractiveness.

Skirts. A mini-skirt. A glimpse of panties under a skirt. Not wearing panties under a skirt. To make a skirt flutter and flutter. To turn up a skirt. These are the following. These are the weapons that females use to sexually lure males into dropping them. Factor analysis of their sexual attractiveness. Their sexual attractiveness is genetically determined.
The fundamental reason why females continue to wear skirts even though they are said to be inconvenient in terms of movement and exercise. It is the following. The ease with which females themselves, through the adoption and use of skirts, can sexually attract and own males who are as follows.

Males who are sexually attractive and are potential spouse targets for the female herself.
The ease with which females themselves can achieve this. The enormity of her power. The greatness of that power.

The effect of the skirt.
A female's crotch area, which is a powerful sexual zone. The upper part of the lower body, centered there. There, a space with the following contents is formed. A secret space with a very high level of sexual attraction. The secret space should have the following characteristics. It must be open from below. The inside of the space cannot be seen from above or in front of it. The cloth of the impulse dividing the inside and outside of the space must be extremely thin and soft. Therefore, it can be easily torn off by external accidental factors such as wind blowing. This makes it easy to expose the inside of the secret space.
A part of the female body that is highly sexually attractive. Female genitalia. The base of the thighs and inner thighs. The buttocks. They must be aligned together in a single, narrowly closed upward and open downward space area. That they share the same space. There is a balance between closedness and openness in one space. Apparently, from the top and front, the space is closed and inaccessible from the outside. However, from below, the space is actually open and easily accessible from the outside at any time. Anyone can easily insert his or her fingers into the spatial area from below. Anyone can easily turn over the garments that separate the spatial areas. The robe that separates the spatial areas should be easily turned up by the wind. There must be a balance between difficulty and ease of attack.
A symbol of ease of access. It should have the following contents. A glimpse of panties under the skirt.
Female body parts with high sexual attractiveness. Female genitalia. The base of the thighs and inner thighs. The buttocks. The possibility of their exposure. That they are, in fact, highly exposed. They are not always exposed. The chance to expose them is usually closed, but may open by chance. There is a sense of eagerness. This can lead to the following psychological effects on males It's the same psychology as being addicted to gambling. The same psychology as that of the opening of a secret Buddhist temple on an atlantean date. For males, the value and merit of this is very high.

The appeal of coincidence and contingency. In that case, panties, even when worn, are highly beneficial to males. However, if you are not wearing panties, you will be at the top of the list in terms of benefits and merits for males.

The effect of a mini-skirt.
The length of the skirt should be very short. This means that the flesh of the thighs is always exposed to the outside world. The inner thighs of the thighs are easily exposed by the movement of the legs. The rubbing together of the inner thighs by both legs. Easily exposed to external view. The garment must be easily turned over. When the garment is turned up, the sexually attractive part of the body is exposed.
A sexually attractive part of the female body. Female genitalia. The base of the thighs and inner thighs. The buttocks. The possibility of exposing them. That they are very, very high. The high degree of mental expectation that this gives to males is very high. It is a deadly weapon that females use to sexually attract and own males.
A female in a miniskirt standing at the front of the stage.
To peek at her crotch area from the bottom of the front row of seats, looking up. To be able to do so.
In that case, the opening of the female's genitals can be viewed directly.
The inner thighs of a female's thighs will be directly viewable.
The power of sexual attraction to males that this brings about. The magnitude of this is tremendous.

Females in Moe Pictures. Viewpoint for the viewer only. A list of its evaluation criteria.

Females in Moe Pictures. A list of its evaluation criteria. Overview.

A representation of "moe females".
What content should you, the authors of the picture, realize about it?
How can that picture become a moe picture, to a certain extent, excellent?

There is a large supply of "moe females" works in society.

I have been researching various things about these "females in moe" from the standpoint of an appreciator, and I did.
The author has observed a great deal of the following over the years.
"Pictures, anime, video games, etc. They all seem to fall into the category of 'moe females'.

What point does a picture have to meet to be described as a "moe female"?

The author has thought a lot about the specific points to be evaluated.
And I have listed below a list of contents that I think can be used as a basis for such evaluation. I did.

They are not the traditional mainstream "painter's technique perspective".
They are newly derived from the "viewer's exclusive perspective".

What kind of senses do pictures have to satisfy for the viewer to become a "moe female" in terms of expression? What?
The author has broken down such sensory factors into the following contents, separately and elementally.
(1) A point of view that the viewer should focus on.
(2) From the viewer's point of view, the expression of the adjective to be met.

The author has listed many of those perspectives and expressions below.

That sums it up, mostly about the face and the female body.

Its content is still tentative and experimental.
There will still be all sorts of oddities in its content.

The author will try to enhance the content, according to the time available.

The author's ideal is to achieve the following

Suppose that the authors of the picture met the criteria in the following list while creating it.
Then the picture will then become a "moe female", which will then pass a certain quality level.

The author aims to make that happen.

The expression of that female body is sexually explicit. Males are sexually aroused by it.
Males are sexually attracted to their faces and voices.

1. 2. Demand for "non-living females".
Females can be divided into two types
(1) Three dimensions (flesh and blood females).
(2) Two-dimensional (non-living females).

The demand for non-living females is as follows.
(1) It can avoid facing the next being.
An uncomfortable psychological structure in the flesh.
Males can thus avoid being treated as servants by females.

(2) It is a pseudo, marriage partner.

(3) It doesn't get old. It will always be in the following condition. It can stay in that state for the rest of your life.
(3-1) It is eternal, young, pretty, clean and beautiful.
(3-2) It will forever remain in
A state of great sexual attraction.

(4) It deactivates, what follows.
It's an annoying bondage to a relationship. That's what flesh and blood females have.
(4-1) It doesn't need to worry about the following.
"Pregnant. Marriage. Adultery.
(4-2) It is the ultimate do-over partner.
(4-3) It is replaceable in any number of ways.

1.3. The male-dominated female-dominated. Female-dominated females. Moe Females. A three-way comparison.
(1) The male-dominated female.
Males can bring the male-dominated female under their mental control.
The male-dominated female, however, is male-dominated in her physical gesture and her mind.
It lacks female-dominated appeal.

(2) The female-dominated female-dominated.
Males are dominated mentally by the female-dominated female-dominated.
Males become their servants.
A male is given an allowance by a female.
Males are vulnerable to females.
But the female-dominated female is female-dominated in her physical gesture and her mind.
It is full of female-dominated charm.
It's also, of course, wonderfully full of sexual attraction.

(3) Moe Females.

Males do not dominate the females in the moe.
They are equal.
Females in moe pictures are female-dominated in body gesture and mind.
It is full of female-dominated charm.
It's also, of course, wonderfully full of sexual attraction.

For males, moe females are the best thing that ever happened to them.

2. unattractive males.
(1) Low spec males. Height. Muscle strength. Education. Stability of Position. Income. These are low.
(2) A male who is sexually reserved.
(3) Males who are not good at talking to females.
(4) A male who is avoided by females because of his appearance, clothing and cleanliness.
(5) A mentally disabled human.

They consider the following.
She accepts me. I can't get dumped. I won't get ignored. She's gonna be good to me. She's with me. I can confess it. She will be the one to marry me.
Males can thus maintain their own psychological and social pride

3. popular males.
(1) He watches a romantic anime with a female he is dating. The female in the moe picture is the heroine of the anime.
(2) A complementary entity that satisfies the overflowing sexual desire. Such sexual desire cannot be supplemented by a female in a relationship or by a flesh-and-blood female. It is the presence of a A second girlfriend.
They can then flirt at will.

4. female-dominated males in a female-dominated society.
4.1.
Males who want a "mother. They think that
I'm just a boy. I'm just being a boy. I'm a baby boy. I want my mother.

Moe females are the next best thing to such males.
The perfect mother. A surrogate for a good mother. It fulfills the following criteria. His dependence on females.

(1) It makes him feel, well, pampered. It makes him feel like a baby. It treats him with a forgiving heart. It makes him be gentle.

(2) It takes him in, with the margin of a strong human. It embraces him, with the margin of a strong human. It is an emotional support for him. It is, to him, dependable.

(3) He can't stand the mother below.
(3-1) She's stern.
(3-2) She abuses.
(3-3) She's toxic.
He wants to get away from that kind of mother. It becomes that escape. It would be the ideal mother of a surrogate.
4.2.
He is a painter. He likes to paint it. He wants to make money painting it. He wants to be famous for painting it.
e wants to paint it.

5. male nonconformists to female-dominated society. Heterosexuals.
He does not have to deal with female-dominated females in the flesh. Let's say he's involved with a female in the flesh. That would be a land mine for him.

To him, the following people are also landmines.
"Female-dominated males. They love moe females.
He withdraws from society. He achieves physical separation from females in the flesh.
He can enjoy the following content in such a state. 'The splendor and sexiness of true femininity.'
He does so and satisfies the following.
A heart that desires femininity, remotely.

6. males who are nonconforming to male-dominated society.
He is not good at male-dominated values and social norms.
(1) People are bullied for being incompetent in that society.
(2) People will be bullied in that society if they can't make a strong case for themselves.
He yearns to be the next one.
A real female, not a male-dominated one.
He yearns for a female-dominated female.
He is attracted to the values that are
He considers the following.
"The moe female is the ideal embodiment of what follows. "real, female-dominated values. That's very nice.

Their pictorial expression is a model of female-dominated expression.

The female-dominated expression of the female body by these females.
The female-dominated male-dominated painters may take their representations to be content with An ideal example for them to follow.
They can refer to their expressions in a familiar and constant way.
They are blessed in the environment in which they create their paintings.

(2) They have the following remaining male-dominated abilities.
(2-1) The ability to grasp the fundamental sexual appeal of the female body.
(2-2) The ability to reproduce it accurately and objectively in a painting.
Those abilities are innate in males.

Female-dominated female-dominated painters tend to turn their attention to 'The male as the opposite sex. Its pictorial representation.

As a result, they tend to be less interested and motivated in Representations of 'moe females'.

Female-dominated male-dominated painters have no such problems.
They can continue to be straightforwardly oriented to the expression of sexual attraction that the female body has.
Such an orientation they have.
It is essential to the realization of
The following representations in "Moe Females.
(1) Expressions of femininity.
(2) An expression of the sexual attraction of the female body.

The effect of both of the above allows them to express the following very well.

They are its imitators and improvements.
The female-dominated spirit is essential to the creation of moe females.

The strong females of a female-dominated society are the rulers in that society.

The female in the moe picture is a symbol of the following content "Female domination of society.

The female in the moe picture is a symbol of the following content The oppression of vulnerable males by females.

But unlike flesh-and-blood females, moe females do not oppress males, directly.
Moe females are warm to vulnerable males with the following hearts.
The heart of a strong human.
(A) Tolerance.
(B) A mind to spare.

(C) Compassion.
(D) A kind heart.
(E) A heart that takes the place of a mother.

(2) Strong Females in Female-dominated Society. Its transformation.

The strong females of the female-dominated society had such a heart for the weak males.
But the powerful females of the female-dominated society have stopped it altogether.

Strong females in female-dominated societies have become prolific adopters of the following
The values that the prevailing male-dominated society holds.

That's because of the following reasons.
(A) It is advanced.
(B) It looks good.
(C) It is safe.
(D) It is authoritative.
(E) Believe it and I will be protected.

Such females came to revere the following content.
The Claims of Vulnerable Females in a Dominantly Male-dominated Society.
It is the feminism of the Western world.

Strong females in a female-dominated society maintain their social position as strongmen, as they have always been.
Strong females, socially, remain the dominant ones.
In that society, people must act in accordance with the following to survive 'Female-dominated values. Female-dominated social norms.
Males are forced to do it, too.
Females continue to preside over that society.

However, strong females have come to act solely as weak and victimized.

Females, on their own, without evidence, become the following.
An intense lump of victimhood.

Females attack vulnerable males as they see them as socially dominant.
That is out of touch with the reality of society.
Females view vulnerable males as hostile, as beings who engage in sexual discrimination.
Females spew unreasonable demands on vulnerable males.

Females will only accept males who
(A) He is totally sympathetic to her.
(B) He gives her a compliment.
He is, at first glance, a knight in shining armor.
But he is, in effect, a servant.

Females will still accept only males with high specifications, as in the past.
Females make males do forced slave labor in the corporate world, as they have always done.
Females will continue to implement the "allowance system" for males.

Females have come to view males as
(A) Target of the attack.
(B) Sandbagging for stress relief.
(C) Bullying.

Males remain socially deprived of the freedom of speech that leaves females with Males can criticize females, seeing them as the strongest people in society.
It remains a social taboo.
That's because society is, well, female-dominated.

Males in a female-dominated society can't stand the behavior of these real, live, strong females.
That's where the female in the moe picture comes in, psychologically.

(3) Vulnerable males in a female-dominated society. Receptors of "moe females.

In a female-dominated society, males are removed from the content of "The male-dominated spirit. Fatherhood.

Males are feminized in spirit.
Males are helpless and vulnerable.
Such males only look strong because they have muscle power.
Males are just children.
The male remains a little boy.
Males, remain in their immature existence.
Strong females should essentially treat such weak males with the following mindset
(A) "A mother-substitute's heart.
(B) "Pride in being a social strongman.

It is, for example, the following.
(A) Generosity of heart.
(B) Heart of Care.
(C) Adult mind.
(D) A mind to spare.

The female in the moe picture is doing just that to males.
Moe females are a very gratifying and comforting presence for males.

(4) Contemporary Social Problems. Its roots.
(4-1) Strong Females. Its problems.

The following are the lowest and worst beings in that society.
That is especially true for the truly vulnerable in society.
(A) "A strong human who thinks he's weak.
(b) "A strong human acting as a weak human.

(c) "A strong human who is not aware that he is a strong human.

That's a human being, personality-wise. It's an entity that cannot be respected in the slightest.

The strong females of today's female-dominated society are just that: strong females.
Strong females selfishly pretend to be weak and victimized. It's remarkable.
Females are the perpetrators against vulnerable males.
Such strong females should be properly recognized for their flaws.

Females need to be more aware of what it means to be a strong human.

(4-2) Vulnerable Males. Its problems.
The following beings are the real idiots in that society.
(A) "A weak human who pretends to be a strong human.
(b) "A weak human acting as a strong human.
(c) "A weak person who is unaware of being weak.

It's a pathetic, pitiful existence.
It's an entity that, at the same time, I can't sympathize with and don't want to help.

Vulnerable males in today's female-dominated society are just that.

The weak males of today's female-dominated society are doing too much of the following
Unsubstantiated, next action.
(A) Strength.
(B) Stylishness.
(C) Dignity.

Such males do the following things with great alacrity
Unsubstantiated, next action.
(A) Pretending to be a "patriarch".

That's a sign of how dumb they are. It's inescapable.
It's a sign of the childish spirit they have.

Those males are dumb and unworthy of help.

Those males would be well suited for the following.
Acting in a female-dominated manner.
(A) To create a group of good friends.
(B) Bullying the weak.
(C) Self-preservation.
(D) To look good.
(E) Doing nothing but memorizing precedents.

Vulnerable males need to be more aware of their vulnerable status.

(5) Extra. A self-serving soliloquy by the author.
When the author says this, it probably has no effect on the males and females of our female-dominated society.
Because they assume that their society is a male-dominated society.
It's like being brainwashed by a religion.
They are impossible to convince.
The author is unable to communicate with them.
The author is disappointed. Even though they are the creators of the "moe females".
Don't hang out with them. It's the best choice for the author's life.
The author wants to be with a wonderful "moe female" all the time.

Females as life investors. Males as entrepreneurs in their investments. The social advantage of females.

Preface. The possession of reproductive facilities by females and their borrowing by males. The female body and female genitalia as a means of advertising for such borrowers.

The possession of reproductive facilities by females and their borrowing by males.
The female body and female genitalia as a means of advertising for such borrowers.

The female body. The externally exposed parts of the female body. It is the content of the following.
The property of reproductive facilities occupied by females. An advertisement for the purpose of recruiting such lessees.
A male as a tenant of the reproductive equipment. A male as an applicant for the advertisement.
A female as the provider of the advertisement.
The advertisement must have essentially the same structure as the following advertisements.
A real estate housing facility property. The advertisement of that.

The content of the advertisement. The sexual appeal of the female body.
The experiential nature of the advertisement. The fact that it is biologically based and responds when worked on. That it powerfully triggers behavior in the male for his own genetic procreation.

That it appeals to the male's own complex physical senses as an applicant for the ad. The various sensations that are obtained must be sexually attractive to the male.
Example.
Sight. The beauty of the face, hair and nape of the neck. The beauty of the shape of breasts and nipples. The size of the degree of nimbleness of the waist. Size of the waist. The thickness of the thighs. The smoothness and softness of the skin.
Hearing. The beauty of the moan.
Sense of touch. The softness of the breast. The smoothness of soft skin. Sensation of tightness inside the vagina.
Sense of temperature. Skin warmth.
Sensation of humidity. Pleasant sensation inside the vagina, moistened by love juice.

The effect of the advertisement is genetically predetermined between males and females.
The more attractive the advertisement is, the more likely it is to attract males as applicants.
The advertisement will continue to be released from a female's body throughout her life.
The effectiveness of the advertisement will rapidly deteriorate as the female ages. That the female will continue to struggle throughout her life to cope with the deterioration.

That the female will live off the income from the rental of reproductive equipment.
Females as investors in reproductive equipment.
It is the same as what follows.
An investor who owns real estate rental property living without working through the unearned income of real estate rentals.
The similarities between females and investors in real estate.
It is as follows.
Unemployment income from rent. They continue to live without working by securing this income on an ongoing basis.

Reproductive facilities occupied by females. An advertisement for its tenants.

The failure of the male tenant to satisfy the female owner sexually. When the female owner drives away the male tenant.
The content of the advertisement is not attractive. The male renter flees to another, more attractive female from the advertising provider.
If there is a problem with the effectiveness of the function of the reproductive facility. The male borrower flees to a female from another, more effective provider of reproductive facilities.
The female's need to continually maintain the high level of attractiveness of the advertisement.
The female's need to continually maintain the effectiveness of her reproductive facilities.

Marriage.
A lifelong, exclusive lease between a male and a female of the reproductive facilities occupied by the female.
It is an investment of her own life. She is a life investor.
Such a contract is essential for both males and females to jointly nurture their joint genetic offspring over the long term.

The central role of the female genitalia in the reproductive facilities occupied by the female.
The male's first and direct target in the advertisement of the female reproductive system. It is the female genitalia in the female body.
By borrowing the female genitalia exclusively, the male opens the route to his own genetic offspring for the first time.
For the male, the borrowing of the female genitalia provides him with an enormous level of sexual pleasure.
The borrowing of female reproductive equipment by the male. It is, directly, the borrowing of female genitalia.

General Discussion. Females as life investors. Males as entrepreneurs in their investments. The social advantage of females.

Females invest the following in males.
Her own life.
Her own female genitalia.

A female receives the following from the male in whom she invests, for life
Dividend.

Females are life investors.
Males receive from females the following.

Females as investors.
Males work hard for such females to produce the following.

In this regard, males are both the following.
////

Corporate entrepreneurs.

Corporate workers.
////

Investors do not actively work on their own.
Investors live their lives around the following.
////
Dividends from portfolio companies.

Females have done so and run the investor life.

Males do the following.
Companies.

Females are under.
Investors in that company.
////

Females are inherently less interested in the following.
(1) Starting a business.
(2) Running a business.
(3) Working in a corporation.
(4) Holding a position in a corporation.

The degree to which a person holds a corporate position.
There are sex differences in this, globally.

Males as corporations.
Females invest their entire lives in these males.
Females try to live a lifetime of

The funds and resources of the investment.

She has no less.

An investor will not receive a dividend if the following occurs.

(1)
The company in which he invested.
That it will go out of business.

(2)
The company in which he invested.
That it performs poorly.

(3)
He himself must lose the following.
////
The right to invest in that company.
The inability to invest in it.
////

Investors, when they do, are instantly hit with
His own life.
That it will fail.

Females have the same problem.
The reason for this is that females are invested in males as well.
Her own life.

Her own female genitalia.

There are two types of humans
////
People who are good at being an investor.
People who are good at being an entrepreneur.
////

Likewise, there are different kinds of females.
////
Example.
A female is suited to life investor.

Another female is better at (2) below than (1) below.
(1) Qualities as a life investor.
(2) Qualities as an entrepreneur.

This is also true for males.

A female can live a life as a life as an life investor.

The following are very significant reasons for this
////
The existence of female genitalia.
//
She owns them in her own body.
She owns it innately.

She leases (1) below to (2) below for (3) below.
(1)
Own female genitalia.

(2)
A particular human.

He became the female's marriage partner.

(3)
A lifetime.

Females do so, and get the following.
////
Persistent rents.
Persistent dividends and returns.
One's own genetic offspring.
////

This is the starting point for
The female-dominated investor's life.

Females are similar to the following.
////
Real estate investors.
Landlord.

The landlord rents the property to the shopkeeper for a long period of time.
The landlord then receives regular rental income from the tenants.

The tenant is a male.
The landlord is a female.

In this case, subsection (1) below corresponds to subsection (2) below.
(1) Real estate property.
(2) Female genitalia.

Females are primarily responsible for the following
She is responsible, in the home, for.
////
Cleaning inside the house.
Organization in the house.
Housekeeping.

This is the same as below.
The landlord shall do the following, primarily.
////
Owned and leased property for shopkeepers.
He is responsible for, in them, the following.
//
The rooms of the property.
The regular maintenance of the inside of the property.

Human housing.
Its primary managers are females.

Female genitalia.
Its primary caretaker is a female.

Human housing.
Female Vessels.
They are both, as beings, similar.
////

Females continue to be life investors.

That status will persist as long as the following continues

(1)
A female owns her vagina.
She rents out her vagina to a male.
She continues to do so.
(2)
A male borrows the female genitalia from a female.
He tries to keep it that way.
He tries so hard to do it.
He will continue to do so.

The female does not need the following as long as this continues.
////
Her own work in the corporate world.
Its inevitable.
////

So, the following will not proceed.
////
Females entering the corporate world in earnest.
A female's appointment to a corporate position.
////

A being who is more dominant, socially, in human society.
It is generally (1) below.
It is not (2) below.
(1)
Landlord.
Real estate property.
Its owner.

(2)
Store child.
Real estate property.
Its lessors.

The above (2) continues to pay rent to (1).
He thus continues to rent the real estate property.

This is applied to (1) and (2) below.
Sex differences between males and females.

A socially superior entity in human society.
In general, it is (1) below.
It is not (2) below.
(1)
Female.
////
Female genitalia.

(2)
Male.

Its renters.

(2) above will continue to pay rent to (1).
He thus continues to rent the vagina.

The presence of vaginas.
This brings about the following for the female.
////
Her, in society, dominance.

It brings the following to females.
////
Her social power.
////

Female genitalia.
It is the source of the above.

It is a factor in the following
////
The attitude of a female towards a male.
It is the following.
//
It is pompous.
It is over the top.
//

They are fundamental.
They are enduring.

Her own vital points.

The physical movements necessary for sex.
To have a male do most of them.

What she does to males.
It is the following contents.
Her own female body.
To offer it.
Her own female organ.
To offer it.

Her own body.
Its sexual response.
Its sexual arousal.
Their expression.
To offer them, enough.

To let them be watched, fully.
Examples.
To make a moaning sound.
To emit love juice.
To make someone convulse.

Other than the above.
Letting the male do all of that.
She herself should do nothing in particular.
She herself must just lie down.

Sexual climax.
Sexual satisfaction.
Her own attainment of these states.
The male she is having sex with.
That he makes it happen, repeatedly.
Frequent occurrence of it in a short period of time.
To cause it to occur continuously over a long period of time.
To cause it to occur without a break until the following conditions occur.
That she herself is fully satisfied sexually.

To force him to do the above.
In order to do so, demand the following from him.
Experience in sex.
Abundance of it.
Advanced techniques in sex.
He must have already mastered it.
The level should be high enough.
To achieve this, you must be able to use him sexually.
In order to achieve this, the following should not be considered.
The male you are having sex with.
His own ability to last in the sexual aspect.
His own degree of fatigue in the sexual aspect.

The realization.
If it was not enough.
Example.
A male who has sex with another human.
He becomes sexually exhausted in the process.

His premature ejaculation.
He is a slow ejaculator.

The male with whom you have sex.
Being unhappy with him.
Your attitude toward him is cold.

Making him do any of the following.
To put herself in a good mood.

To think the following things about him.
Cheating on him.
Divorce.

(1-2-2)
A female forces a male to do the following.
Herself.
Their self-preservation.
Its safety.
To make it happen.

Its power.
Its technology.
Its comprehensiveness.
The timeliness of it.
That they are sufficiently high.

Its realization.
That he can complete them all by himself.
She herself should do nothing in particular.

To make her own hands bother her.
The occurrence of that state.
Avoid all of that.

Example.
Her own life.

Her own body.
Her own spirit.
To guard them.

To be the following.
A substitute for herself.

A risk.
Danger.
To bear them all, on his own.

The challenge.
The execution.
Completing it all on his own.

Its contents.
The constant demand of tribute from him.
Examples.
Meals.
Goods.
Money.

To send him to an enterprise.
To make him work in a place.
The labor.
Its content.
It is coercive.
It's like slavery.
It is harsh.

The result.
The economic compensation he gets.
The social status he gains.
The social achievements he achieves.
To receive them unilaterally from him as dividends.
She herself does not provide him with anything financially.

The result.
She herself is to lead a life of the following content.
A life of dividends from the male.
The contents.
She herself, in particular, does not work at anything.
She herself is to take it easy.
She herself should live elegantly.

To enjoy such a life for the rest of her life.

Especially in a female-dominated society.
Example.

Japanese society.

A female should realize the following.
The purse strings of the family budget.
To hold it unilaterally.
Keep males out of it.
Unilaterally give males a small allowance every day.

Forcing males to go to work every day.
To force a male to do any of the following.
//
Work.
To earn money.
To not rest.
//
Doing them every day, for the rest of her life.

She herself must do nothing about them.

The family's money earned in this way.
To spend it.
To do that freely.
To do as she pleases with it.
The authority to make that decision.
The power that allows her to occupy it.

The power that makes it possible.
Her total control over it.

The male partner of a female.
He continued to work for her, sacrificing his own life.
He earned all the money in the household.
For her to shut him out of the household finances.
The realization of this.
The realization that this is socially acceptable.
That it is fully socially acceptable and recommended.

(2-2)
Economic sexual exploitation of females by males.
After a male has sex with a female.

A male who, after having sex with a female, disappears from the female's life.
It is as follows.
A male who has sex with a female and then leaves her.

If the female becomes pregnant and gives birth.
The genetic information of the child.
Half of it comes from the male.
The other half of the child's body.
It is the male himself.
The cost of raising the child.
From the above point of view, it needs to be divided equally between the male and the female.

However, the male is running away from the female.

The cost of raising a child.
The male does not bear any of it.
The result.
The following situation occurs.
The cost of raising a child.
The labor involved in raising the child.
The female has to bear all of it.
The action that the male takes.
It is as follows.
The cost that should be borne.
Not paying for it.
Labor that should be borne.
Not providing it.

Taking over for them.
The male is forcibly imposing it on the female.

It corresponds to the following contents.
The economic exploitation of females by males.

(First published December 2020)

Economic sexual exploitation of males by females. Mechanism of its occurrence.

The following (1) shall be executed against the following (2): (3).

(1)
Females.
(2)
Male.
(3)
Economic sexual exploitation.

The following (1-1) shall be for the purposes of the following (2-1): (3-1).
The following (2-1) shall be executed against the following (1-1) for the purposes of the following (4-1): (5-1).

(1-1)
Equipment owner.
Capitalist.
Example.
Equipment in a factory. Its owner.
(2-1)
Borrowers of equipment.
Workers.
(3-1)
To exploit them to the fullest extent, financially.
To pay low wages to them and get away with it.
(4-1)
To make a living.
To earn a living.
To earn a wage.
To work for it.
To use equipment for that purpose.
To borrow equipment to do so.
(5-1)
To borrow equipment owned by the above (1-1).

To attempt to obtain permission to do so from the above (1-1).
In order to do so, perform the following (5-1-2) actions in response to the following (5-1-1) issued by the above (1-1).
(5-1-1-1)
Forcing them to engage in forced labor.
(5-1-2-1)
Do not complain, just obey.
Overworked for a long time.
(5-1-1-2)
To unilaterally exploit them economically.
(5-1-2-2)
Do not complain about it, but continue to obey it.
To continue to be subjected to economic exploitation.

The following (1-2) will perform the following (3-2) for the following (2-2).
The following (2-2) hereby executes the following (5-2) against the following (1-2) for the purpose of (4-2).

(1-2)
Reproductive facilities.
Example.
//
Female genitalia.
Female body.

Its owner.
Capitalist.

Female.
(2-2)
Reproductive facilities.
Its borrowers.
Laborers.
Male.

(3-2)
Continue to exploit them economically to the fullest extent.

To do the following to them.
Pay financial tribute to the female herself.
Continue to force them to do so throughout their lives.

(4-2)
Such reproductive facilities.
The following are to be acquired through its use.
//
Intense sexual stimulation.
To experience, temporarily, that.
//
Their own genetic offspring.
To leave it to future generations.
//

To use equipment for that purpose.
To borrow equipment for that purpose.
(5-2)
To borrow equipment owned by the above (1-2).
To attempt to obtain permission to do so from (1-2) above.
In order to do so, to perform the following (5-2-2) in response to the following (5-2-1) issued by (1-2) above.

(5-2-1-1)
Her own property facilities.
Reproductive equipment.
Female genitalia.
Female body.
The innate desire they have for their use.
Their intensity.
Their permanence.

The weakness they possess.
To take advantage of it.

To do so, perform the following actions on them.

Her own facilities.
Reproductive facilities.

Female genitalia.
The female body.
Permission to use them.
To grant it to them.
The act must be of her own grace.

In return, in return, you will perform the following acts.
//
Forcing them to work too hard.
Keep them working for long hours.
Forcing them to engage in forced labor.
//
Sustaining the above actions throughout their lives.

(5-2-2-1)
To meekly obey without complaint.
Overworked for a long time.

(5-2-1-2)
To unilaterally exploit them financially.

(5-2-2-2)
To continue to meekly obey them without complaint.
To continue to be subjected to economic exploitation.

The owner of the equipment has a higher status and position than the borrower of the equipment.
The owner of the equipment takes advantage of his strong position.
The owner of the equipment forces the borrower of the equipment to do what he says.

The result.
The owner of the equipment continues to exploit the borrower of the equipment economically and socially.

The realization of this.
It is quite possible.

In the above case.
Replace the owner of the equipment with a female.
Replace the borrower of the equipment with a male.
By doing so, the following can be explained.
From a reproductive standpoint, the female is the owner of the equipment.
In terms of reproduction, males are the borrowers of the equipment.

Males are the following.

Continue to perform the following acts throughout his life.
Reproductive facilities owned by the female.
Borrowing from them.
Continuing to seek them.
To be desperate for it.

It is powerful.
It is constant.
It is permanent.

It is genetically determined to be so.
Such a being.

A male is a being that.

A reproductive facility owned by a female.
The use of it.
To use it to obtain powerful sexual stimulation.
Reaching sexual climax each time by doing so.

Such sexual desire.
Avoiding it.
The total impossibility of doing so.

That powerful sexual urge.
Its occurrence.
Being genetically compelled to do so.

Male.

He has the following characteristics.
//
The facilities of reproduction, possessed by the female.
Female genitalia and female body.
Continual desire for them.
Such a state of mind.
It happens before you know it.
It always, constantly, occurs.

Reproductive facilities owned by females.
Female genitalia and female body.
The immediate sexual arousal to them.
Such mental state.
The facilities of reproduction, owned by the female.
Female genitalia and female body.
Total mental dependence on them.
Such a state.

Such a state of mind.
Its perpetuation.
Being forced to do so, genetically.
//

Male.
He is, therefore, of the following nature.
//
To be able to do without borrowing reproductive facilities from females.

The impossibility of doing so.
That it is fundamentally difficult to do so.

It must be lifelong.
That it is, even for a moment.
//

Owner of the equipment.
Equipment borrowers.
The occurrence of a hierarchical relationship between them.
That, in the reproductive aspect, occurs.

If you consider that.

The owner of the equipment. It must be a female.
The borrower of the equipment. It must be male.

The result.
In terms of reproduction.
The female is the superior.
The male is the subordinate.

As a result of this, the following will occur.
Economic exploitation of males by females.
Males's overwork as a source of dividends.
Females forcing males to do this on a daily basis.
The fact that it is possible for females to do this on a regular basis.

(First published March 2021.)

Sex differences, in body structure, between males and females. Relation to fitness for overwork.

The female body.
It is not specifically built like the following (1).

Male body.
It is specifically designed to be built like the following (1).

Continued overwork.
That is the premise of the body.
Such a construction.

This is the fundamental difference between the two.
It is a manifestation of the fundamental sex differences between males and females.

The female body.
It specializes in the following (2).
(2)
Economic sexual exploitation of males.
A lifelong commitment to this practice.
This is a prerequisite.
Such a construction.

The female body.
It specializes in the following (2-1) kind of construction.
(2-1)
Forcing males to perform compulsory overwork on a continuous basis.
Consequences.
The offering of economic dividends by males to females.
Such an economic dividend.
To earn it, exclusively.
To make her own living by doing so.
The result.
She herself should continue to live without any overwork.
She herself, in this way, will continue to live elegantly and comfortably.
She must continue to do so throughout her life.
That is the premise.
Such a construction.

Females.
If they themselves were to perform forced overwork on a continuous basis.
They will break down and become unable to work.
Example.
A cake maker.

It is a very popular occupation among females.
However, it does not reflect the reality.
In fact, there are only males left as craftsmen.
In fact, the remaining craftsmen are all males.
The reason.
A cake maker.
Their labor is very heavy.
The existence that can endure it.
It is limited to the following types of existence.
A body that can endure overwork.
A being who has it innately.
Males.

(First published March 2021.)

Sexual exploitation by females against males. Their classification.

Sexual exploitation.
It is the exploitation of one sex by the other sex, based on sex differences.

Sexual exploitation by females against males.
It is classifiable as follows.

(1)
Economic exploitation.
The act of earning money. Forcing a male to do this. The act of forcing a male to earn money so that she herself does not have to earn it. The act of a female forcing a male to earn money, so that she herself does not have to earn it, so that she can unilaterally obtain and consume economic rewards and allowances without effort. Its constant implementation.

This corresponds to the following characteristics of females.
Females are vulnerable to workloads because of their elaborate body systems, and they are not able to be overworked.

(2)
Security exploitation.
Facing threats. Facing death. Forcing males to do these things. The unilateral acquisition of safety and security by females. Its constant practice.
The overuse of weapons. The constant arousal of fear of death and injury. Females enforce these things on males.
These things correspond to the following qualities of females
Biological preciousness and intense self-preservation based on it.

(3)
Exploitation of the hothouse environment.
Confrontation with hard work. Confrontation of adverse environmental conditions. Forcing males to do these things. The unilateral acquisition and enjoyment of ease and comfort by females. Unilateral access to a hothouse environment. Taking it for granted. The constant practice of it.
Overuse of the body. Overuse of muscle power. The constant arousal of sensations of pain and suffering. Females force these things on males.
These things correspond to the following characteristics of females.
Females, because of their elaborate body systems, are vulnerable to workloads and are not able to push themselves in terms of work.
Biological preciousness and intense self-protection based on it.

(4)
Exploitation of sexual pleasure.
Abuse of the male organ. Caressing of the sex organs and vaginal ejaculation. The continuation of these acts until the female is sexually satisfied. Forcing males to do these things. The female's unilateral and effortless acquisition of sexual pleasure and sexual climax by doing so. The constant practice of this.
This corresponds to the following characteristics of females The occupation of major reproductive facilities and, based on that, the arrogant nature of a vested interest in the upper echelons of society.

Facilitation of their realization by females.
Their concealment by females.
How to do it.
It is as follows.
Making herself look weak, one way or the other. Pretending to be weak.
Flattering males as the strong ones, unilaterally.

(First published January 2022.)

Sex abandonment. Mendacity. Commonality of these acts.

The abandonment of sex by males to females.
A female begging a male for alms.
Both of the above acts.
They are the following acts for each sex.
//
A spontaneous thought and attempt to carry it out.
No particular sense of guilt toward the other sex.
The winner is the one who does it.
To be sensitively normal.
Sense of naturalness.
Genetic basis.
Strongly based on it.
//

Both of these actions are very damaging to the opposite sex in the following ways.
Damage to their lives.
The damage occurs at the following points.
The act.

The act, being performed by their own partner.
After that.
That the effects become manifest.
At that point.

(A)
The side that is damaged.
If it is a female.

The abandonment of sex by a male to a female.
The result.
The female is forced to do the following.

Her own unwanted pregnancy.
The male with whom she is pregnant.
The absence of a relationship between him and herself.
The consequences.
Financial exploitation of the male with whom she is pregnant.
Impossibility of doing so.
Its occurrence.
Consequences.
Her own state of absolute poverty.
Its occurrence.
Its persistence.
The determination of it.

Child rearing.
To carry it out, under the following circumstances.
//
Collecting the cost of raising the child from the male partner of the pregnancy.
The difficulty of doing so.

Her own financial desperation.
She is alone.
She is lonely.
//
Such an act.
Persistence.
A lifetime of it.

It is the free ride of males over females.
It is the economic exploitation of females by males.
It is the exploitation of females by males in their lives.

(B)
The side that is damaged.
If it is a male.

A female's mendicancy against a male.
The result.

(1)
Male.

A child born between the following two people.
(2)
(1) above.
A female who is his partner.
(3)
(2) above.
A male who is her adulterous partner.

Such a child.
It is the following for (1) above.

His own genetic offspring.
The elements that correspond to that.
The fact that it is zero.

Being in no way related to himself.

The above (3).
The male's genetic descendant.

(1) above.
That he will raise and care for such children.
That he will lead a life of the following content, in order to achieve it.

That he will unilaterally continue to receive the following actions from the above (2) and (3) beings.
//
Labor to earn money.
The compulsion.
//
Economic exploitation.
//

(1) above.
Such a life by him.
It consists of the following.
//
It is not in his own interest at all.
It is useless to him.
It is meaningless to him.

The above (1).
Such a life by him.
Its occurrence.
Its persistence.
That he himself remains unaware of any of it.
He will continue to live his life in the same state.
He ends his life in the same state.
He will cease to exist without leaving the following to future generations.
His own genetic descendants.

Such a miserable life.
That the above (1) will be forced to do so by the above (2).
(2) above.
That she deliberately concealed the truth of her mendacity from (2) above.

Above (2).
That she gives priority to the existence of the above (3) over the existence of the above (1).
That she does so based on the contents of (4) above.
(4)
The idea is natural.
The idea is natural.

(2) above.
That she will try to realize the following.
The genetic descendant of (3) above.
Its survival.
Its survival.

The above (2).
That she will, for that purpose, perform the following (5) acts on the above (1).
That she shall perform the acts in the attitude of (6).
(5)
His life.
To sacrifice it in its entirety.
(6)
To be unconcerned.

(2) above.
That she should carry out such a scheme with the following attitude: (7).
(7)
To come up with the idea of doing so spontaneously.
Do not feel particularly guilty about doing so.
There is no hesitation in doing so.
//

The subject of the action that is the main culprit.
The ability to pull off such a scheme without difficulty.

The male with whom she is pregnant.
The male with whom she is pregnant, and who he really is.
The ability to completely conceal the truth from everyone around her.
The ability to do so with ease.
To be born with these abilities to a high degree.
Such subjects.
The true subject of these things.
That is a female.

(B) above.
The mendacity of females towards males.

(1)
A female.
If she is in a relationship with more than one male at the same time.

(2)
One of the males.

She has been sentenced by the above mentioned (2) for the following.

Sex with her. That it is a mere abandonment for him.
That he will not bear the financial burden of the child to be born.

She then became pregnant with the following child.
A child with the above (2).

The above (2).
If she is in the following (3) status to the above (2).
(3)
The continued retention of favors and affection.

(B) above.
It is done by (1) above, for the following purposes.
//
The child she herself truly wants.

Its upbringing.
Its realization.

(1)
A female.
If she was in a relationship with more than one male at the same time.

(4)
One of those males.
He is a different dating partner for (1) than for (2) above.
The true situation that the above (1) contains.
He doesn't know what it is.

The fondness that the above (1) has for the above (4).
Its level.
If it is low.
To destroy the life of the above (4).
When the above (1) does not feel any particular guilt about it.
If the above (4) is financially strong.

The above (1) performs the following (5) acts against the above (4).
To continue to conceal true information.
To do so for a major period of time in one's life.
To do so with impunity.

To perform the following (3) acts on the following (1) in the following (2) states.
(1)
Male.
Female.
Both.
(2)
In a relationship with the opposite sex.
(3)
Multiple heterosexual relationships, including two-timing and more.
Having them going on at the same time.
This is normal for them.

These are as follows
Premarital infidelity.
Post-marital infidelity.
Adultery.
It is an inevitable part of the relationship between a male and a female.
Consequences of adultery.
A significant number of people of the opposite sex in a relationship.
They are removed from the object of their partner's affection.
They are unilaterally discarded by their partner's opposite sex.
They are treated by the opposite sex of their partner as Sexual exploitation.
A mere tool to do so.

Sexual exploitation.

(1)
They are of two kinds.
//
Exploitation of females by males.
Exploitation by females against males.

(2)
They are the following three types.
//
Physical exploitation.
Economic exploitation.
Exploitation in life.
//

The abandonment of sex by males to females.
It is the following.
//
Physical exploitation by males of the females they associate with.
Males's economic exploitation of females who are pregnant.
The exploitation of a female's life by a male who is pregnant with her.

//

Mendicancy by a female against a male.
It includes the following.
//
The economic exploitation of the male mendicant partner by the female.
Exploitation by the female of the male mendicant partner for his life.
//
Physical exploitation by the female of the male with whom she is having an affair.

The male with whom she is having an affair.
He is the following.
An object of sexual fondness by the female herself.
//

They both constitute sexual exploitation.
They are committed by both sexes in the following manner.
//
It is natural.
No guilt.
//

They result in the following consequences for both parties.
The target of the execution, the opposite sex.
Destroying their lives.

The consequences of those actions.
They both correspond to the following (2) contents for the following (1) beings.
(1-1)
The opposite sex in a relationship.
They fall under the following entities.

The target of their execution.
(2-1)
Misery itself.

(1-2)
The opposite sex in a relationship.
They fall under the following entities.
The entity that performs them.
(2-2)
Happiness itself.

They are, for each of the sexes, the following.
Sexual exploitation.
The act that corresponds to it.
A program that causes it.
It's genetically built in.
It is innate.
It's natural.
It does not involve guilt.

Related to social classification.
(1-1)
In the case of a monogamous society.
The above two acts are likely to occur.
(1-2)
In the case of a polygamous society.
The above two behaviors are less likely to occur.
A male thinks of the following (1-2-1) acts as the content of the following (1-2-2).
(1-2-1)
All of his own genetic children.
Its parenting.
To take it on, fully.
To do so.
(1-2-2)
//
It's natural.
Natural.

Males, therefore, do not feel the following (1-2-3) to be particularly.
(1-2-3)
The abandonment of sex by males to females.
The need to perform it.

(2-1)
The lack of economic opportunities for males.
In such a society.

This is the most common type of sex.

(2-2)
In a society where males tend to be well-off.
In such a society.
The above two behaviors are less likely to occur.
It is possible for males to perform the following (2-2-2) in order to achieve the following (2-2-1).
(2-2-1)
All of his own genetic children.
Its parenting.
(2-2-2)
Economic sexual exploitation.
To be able to afford and accept it.

Males, therefore, do not feel any particular (2-2-3) of the following.
(2-2-3)
The abandonment of sex by males to females.
The necessity of carrying it out.

(First published March 2021.)

Sexual licentiousness.

Sexual licentiousness. A classification of views about it.

Sexual licentiousness.
The act of changing one's partner in the reproductive act.
The act of changing one's partner in the reproductive act.

To be strict about sexual licentiousness.
An existence that demands single-mindedness in things. Example. A person who is steadfast in his or her love for a heterosexual romantic partner or spouse.
An existence that wants to ensure that their genetic descendants will be around in the future. One who wants to be sure of this.

One who is tolerant of sexual licentiousness.
A person who allows things to change. Example. A person who changes the object of their affection in various ways with respect to a heterosexual romantic partner or spouse.
A person who changes the object of their affection in various ways, for example, in regard to a heterosexual love partner or spouse. A person who is indifferent to this.

Those who are severe about the sexual exploitation of females.
A male who intends to be a father.
A female who is:
A mother of a son. A mother-in-law. Small mother-in-law.

The inability to guarantee that the child to be born is their own genetic offspring. Inability to have that assurance.
Avoidance of this.
A social demand for the prohibition of this.
//

Those who are tolerant of females's sexual licentiousness.
Males.
Males who like to have sex.

Males who want to have lots and lots of sex with lots of females.

Females who are:
Daughters. Mothers of daughters. Wives.
The assurance that their unborn children will be their own genetic offspring. The ability to have that assurance.
The certainty of its realization.

//
Those who are strict about male sexual licentiousness.
Females.
The likelihood that such males will abandon her if she becomes pregnant, and that she will have to provide for the child on her own.
The possibility that such males may not be able to provide financial support or may cease to do so.
Males.
They are strong competitors in their own marriages to females and in the siring of females.

Those who is tolerant of male sexual licentiousness.
Males who like to have sex.
Females who want to take advantage of males's sexual desires to maximize their economic exploitation.
//

Those who seek single-mindedness in the reproductive act with regard to their partners.
When they become sexually promiscuous.

Rape. To be forced to have sex by another person of the opposite sex.
Adultery. The act of having sex with a person of the opposite sex.
//
Temporary sexual relationship. Immediate separation.
Medium-term maintenance of a sexual relationship. Repeated marriage and divorce.

Additional content. mid-May 2023. The Material Roots of Sex Differences between Males and Females.

I have arrived at new findings on the material roots of gender differences between males and females. The following is a summary of the findings. For more details, please refer to my other e-books.
There are two kinds of matter on earth: energetic matter and conservative matter.
Energetic matter has the power to move. Conservative matter has the power to stop.
The representative of energetic matter is gas. Conservative substances are represented by liquids and metallic solids.
Living things in general are liquid substances and are members of the conservative substances.
Of living things, viruses, sperm and males are more gaseous and energetic in nature. They are eager to work and earn. They are not good at conservation acts such as supplying, healing, and nursing. They throw those actions to the liquid living things. They are an outgrowth of the living thing and are located on the periphery or outer edge of the biological world.
Of the living things, the cell, the ovum and the female are more liquid and preservative in nature. They are eager for preservative acts such as supplying, healing and nursing. They are not good at energetic acts such as work and earning. They throw those actions to gaseous living things. They are the representatives of the living things and are at the center of the biological world.

Eventually. The masculinity is a subcategory of the gasousness, a subcategory of the energetic nature of matter. The femininity is a subcategory of the liquidity, a subcategory of the nature of conservative matter. Conventional findings on sex differences between males and females support these.
Eventually. To reject the claim of the existence of sex differences between males and females as sexist. To do so would be to deny the difference in properties between gases and liquids. It would be an act of dishonesty, in gross violation of the laws of physics. Liberals and political correctness people in the West, Japan and Korea. They should reform now and acknowledge the existence of sex differences between males and females.
Feminism in the West and in Japan and Korea.
Such ideas should not take the following direction in the future. Trying to make females, as a preservative substance, work and earn money. The masculinization of females. The energetic materialization of females. Such a direction.
Such ideas should go in the following direction in the future. The direction to further strengthen females's original conservation nature.

I have found the following contents.
Sex differences in the social behavior of male and female.
A new, basic, and novel explanation of this.

Sex differences between male and female.
It is the following.
The difference in the nature of sperm and egg.
Their direct, extension and reflection.

Sex differences in the social behavior of male and female.
They are based, faithfully, on the following.
The difference in the social behavior of the sperm and the egg.

They are common to all living things.
It is also true for human beings as a type of living thing.

The male body and mind are merely vehicles for sperm.
The female body and mind are merely vehicles for the egg.

Nutrients and water are necessary for the growth of offspring.
The ovum is the owner and possessor of them.

Reproductive facilities.
The female is their owner and possessor.

Nutrients and water, which the ovum occupies.
The sperm are their borrowers.

Reproductive facilities occupied by the female.
The male is their borrower.

The owner is the superior and the borrower is the inferior.

The result.
Possession of nutrients and water.
In them, the ovum is the superior and the sperm is the subordinate.
Ownership of reproductive facilities.
In them, the female is the superior and the male is the subordinate.

The ovum unilaterally occupies authority over the use of such a hierarchical relationship.
To unilaterally select the sperm by using such a hierarchical relationship.
By doing so, it unilaterally permits fertilization of the sperm.
Such authority.

The female unilaterally occupies the authority to the following.
To take advantage of such a hierarchical relationship.
To unilaterally select male by doing so.
To unilaterally grant marriage to male by doing so.
Such authority.

A female shall do the following acts.
To take advantage of such hierarchical relationships.
By doing so, they exploit male in various aspects and comprehensively.

The ovum attracts the sperm sexually.
The female attracts the male sexually.

The ovum unilaterally occupies the authority of the following.

The entry of sperm into its own interior.
Permission and authorization to do so.
Its authority.

The female unilaterally occupies the authority of the following.
Licensing of sex to the male.
Authority to do so.

The reproductive equipment she owns.
Their borrowing by male.
The permission and authorization thereof.
The authority to do so.

The human's marriage proposal.
Permission for it.
Its authority.

As long as life reproduces sexually, the following are certain to exist.
Sex differences in the social behavior of male and female.

Sex differences in the social behavior of male and female.
They can never be eliminated.

I will explain the following in a new way.
There are not only male-dominated societies but also female-dominated societies in the world.

It is the following content.
The distinctness of the existence of female-dominated societies.
Its new reaffirmation in the world community.

The male-dominated society is a society of mobile lifestyle.
The female-dominated society is a society of sedentary lifestyle.

Sperm.
The male body and mind as its vehicle.
They are mobile people.

Egg.
The female body and mind as its vehicle.
They are settled.

Male-dominated societies are, for example.
Western countries. Middle Eastern countries. Mongolia.
Female-dominated societies are, for example.
China. Russia. Japan. South and North Korea. Southeast Asia.

Males place the highest priority on securing freedom of action.
Males rebel against their superiors.
Males force their inferiors to submit to them through violence.
Males leave little room for the following.
Rebellion by subordinates.
Its possibility.
Free action by the subordinate.
Its possibility.
Room for them.

Male-dominated society rules by violence.

Females prioritize self-preservation.
Females are submissive to their superiors.

Females subjugate their inferiors.

It is the following contents.
//
Use the utmost pride and arrogance.

Rebellion and free action by subordinates.
To completely block out and render impossible any room for such actions.

It consists of the following.
To be done in advance and in coordination with the surrounding sympathizers.
No rebellion by the subordinate is allowed at all.
Confinement of the subordinates in an enclosed space with no escape.

To be carried out in a persistent manner until the superior is satisfied.
Continuous, one-sided abuse of the subordinate, using him or her as a sandbag.
//

Female-dominated societies rule by tyranny.

Conflicts between Western nations and Russia and China.
They can be adequately explained as follows.
Conflict between male-dominated society and female-dominated society.

Mobile lifestyle creates a male-dominated society.
In this society, discrimination against female occurs.
Sedentary lifestyle creates a female-dominated society.
This is where discrimination against male occurs.

In a female-dominated society, the following will occur constantly.
The following behaviors by female as superiors.
Arbitrary calls for self-vulnerability.
Arbitrary calls for male superiority.
They deliberately conceal the following.
The social superiority of female.
Discrimination against male.
They conceal, externally, the very existence of a female-dominated society.

The internal secrecy, closure, and exclusivity of the female-dominated society.
The closed nature of its internal information.
They conceal the very existence of female-dominated society from the outside world.

To eliminate sex discrimination in living thing's and human society.

It is impossible to achieve it.
Such attempts are nothing more than the assertion of a neat ideal.
All such attempts are futile.

To forcefully deny the existence of sex differences between male and female.
To oppose sex discrimination.
Such social movements led by the West.
All of them are basically meaningless.

Social policies that assume the existence of sex differences between male and female.
The development of such a policy is newly necessary.

I have found the following content.
Human nature.
A new, basic, novel, explanation of them.

We fundamentally change and destroy the view of the following existence.

Conventional, Western, Jewish, and Middle Eastern-driven ideas of mobile living.
They make a sharp distinction between human and non-human living thing.
They are based on the following content.
The constant slaughter of livestock. Its necessity.
Such a view.

My argument is based on the following.

Human existence is fully subsumed into the existence of living things in general.
Human nature can be more effectively explained by Viewing the human being as a type of living thing.
Viewing human essence as the essence of living thing in general.

The essence of living thing.
It consists of the following.
Reproduction of self.
Survival of self.
The multiplication of self.

These essences give rise to the following desires for living thing.
Private ease of living.
Its insatiable pursuit.
The desire for it.

The desire for it produces in living thing the following desires.
The acquisition of competence.
The acquisition of vested interests.
The desire for them.

This desire continually produces in living thing the following.
Survival advantage.
Its confirmation.
Its need.

This, in turn, produces in living thing the following contents.
A relationship of social superiority and inferiority.
Social hierarchy.

This inevitably produces the following contents.
Abuse and exploitation of subordinate living things by superior living things.

This brings about original sin against living thing in an inescapable way.
It makes living thing difficult to live.

To escape from such original sin and the difficulty of living.
Its realization.
The content of any living thing can never be realized as long as it is alive.
The same is true of human, who is a kind of living thing.
The original sin of human is caused by living thing itself.

I have newly discovered the following details.
Evolutionary theory is the mainstream in conventional biology.
To point out the following contents about it.
Fundamental errors in its content.
A new explanation for it.

It fundamentally rejects the following.
Human is the evolutionary perfection of living thing.
Human reigns at the pinnacle of living thing.
Such a view.

Living thing is nothing more than self-reproduction, mechanically, automatically, and repeatedly.
Living thing is purely material in this respect.
Living thing has no will to evolve.

Mutations in living thing's self-reproduction.
They occur purely, mechanically, automatically.
They automatically bring about new living things.

Conventional evolutionary explanation.
That such new forms are superior to conventional forms.
There is no basis for such an explanation.

The current human form as part of living thing.
That it will be maintained in the process of repeated self-reproduction by living thing.
There is no guarantee of this.

The environment surrounding living things always changes in unexpected directions.
Traits that were adaptive in the previous environment.
In the next changed environment, they often become traits that are maladaptive to their new environment.

Consequences.
The living things are constantly changing through self-replication and mutation.

It does not guarantee the realization of any of the following.
evolution to a more desirable state.
Its persistence.

My, above assertion.
It is the following content.

The world's most vested interests dominate the top of the world.
Such a male-dominated society.
Western countries.
Jews.

The international order.
International values.
They are generated around them.
Their content is unilaterally determined by them, to their own advantage.
Their background, their traditional social thought.
Christianity.
Evolutionary theory.
Liberalism.
Democracy.
Various social ideas whose content is unilaterally favorable to them.
Radically destroying, sealing off, and initializing their contents.

International order.
International values.
The degree of involvement of female-dominated societies in the process of making those decisions.
Its expansion.
Furthering its realization.

The fundamentally difficult social reality within a female-dominated society.
It is completely filled with subjugation of the superior and tyrannical domination of the subordinate.
Example.

The internal reality of Japanese society.

Such an inconvenient social reality.
Thoroughly elucidate the mechanism of their occurrence.
To expose and whistle-blow the contents of the results.
The content should be such.

My books.
The hidden and important purpose of their contents.
It is the following contents.

People in female-dominated societies.
They have had to rely, until now, on social theories generated by those in male-dominated societies.

Those in female-dominated societies.
Their own social theory that explains their own society.
To enable them to have it on their own.
Its realization.

The realization of the following.
The male-dominated society that is currently dominant in the formation of the world order.
Weakening of them.
A new strengthening of the power of the female-dominated society.
I will help to achieve this.

People in female-dominated societies.
They are unable to have their own social theory for a long time.
The reasons for this.
They are as follows.

Deep down, they dislike analytical action itself.
They give priority to the unity and sympathy with the subject, rather than the analysis of the subject.

The strong exclusiveness and closedness of their own society.
A strong resistance to the unraveling of the inner workings of their own society.

A strong regressive nature based on their own feminine self-preservation.
An aversion to exploring unknown and dangerous territory.
Preference for following precedents where safety has already been established.

An unprecedented exploration of the inner workings of a female-dominated society.
Aversion to such action itself.

The social theory of male-dominated society as a precedent.
To learn its contents by rote.
That is all they are capable of doing.

(First published in March 2022.)

The purpose of the author's writing and the methodology used to achieve it.

Purpose of my writing.
Viability for living thing. Viability for living thing. Proliferative potential for living thing. To increase it.
It is the most valuable thing for living thing. It is intrinsically good for living thing. It is intrinsically illuminating for living thing.
The good for the social superiors. It is the following. Acquisition of the highest social status. The acquisition of hegemony. Maintenance of acquired vested interests.
The good for the social suboridinates. It is as follows. Social upward mobility through the attainment of competence. The destruction and initialization of the vested interests of the socially superior through the creation of a social revolution.
Ideas that will help achieve this. Truth. The knowledge by living thing of the truth about itself. It is a cruel, harsh, and bitter content for living thing. Its acceptance. Ideas that help it. A way to create them efficiently. Its establishment.

My methodology.
The purpose of the above. Procedures for realizing them. Tips on how to realize them. Points to keep in mind when realizing them. These are the following contents.
Constantly observe and grasp the trends of the environment and living thing and society by searching and browsing the Internet. These actions will be the source of the following contents.
Ideas that have explanatory and persuasive power in clarifying truths and laws of the environment and living thing and society.
An idea that has the potential to explain 80% of the truth. Write down and systematize the content of the idea. Create more and more ideas on my own that seem to be close to the truth and have high explanatory power. This action should be my first priority.
Put off detailed explanations. Avoid esoteric explanations.
Do not check against past precedents until later. Put off complete verification of correctness.
Establish laws that are concise, easy to understand, and easy to use.
Putting the action first. This is the same as, for example, the following actions. Develop computer software that is simple, easy to understand, and easy to use.

Ideals and stances in my writing.

My ideals in writing.
It is the following content.
//
Maximizing the explanatory power of the content I produce.
Minimizing the time and effort it takes to do so.
//

Policies and stances for achieving these. They are the following.

The fundamental policies I consider in writing.
The contrast between them.
A list of their main items.

They are as follows.

Write the content of the text with this as the top priority.
Complete the content as quickly as possible.
Merge the content into the body of the text as soon as it is written.
Give them the highest priority.
For example
Do not use proper nouns.
Don't use local words with a low level of abstraction.

Actively apply advanced computer programming techniques to the writing process.

Example.
Writing techniques based on object thinking.
Application of the concepts of classes and instances to writing.
Preferential description of the contents of higher-level classes.

Example.
Application of agile development methods to writing.
Frequent repetition of the following actions.
Upgrading the contents of an e-book.
Uploading the e-book file to a public server.

I have adopted a different method of writing academic papers than the traditional method.
The traditional method of writing academic papers is inefficient in deriving explanatory content.

My point of view in writing the book.
It is the following content.

The perspective of a schizophrenic patient.
The point of view of the lowest rank in society.
The point of view of those who are treated the worst in society.
The perspective of those who are rejected, discriminated against, persecuted, ostracized, and isolated by society.
The perspective of the socially maladjusted.
The perspective of those who have given up on living in society.
The point of view of a patient with the lowest social rank of disease.
The point of view of the most harmful person in society.
The point of view of the most hated person in society.
The perspective of a person who has been closed off from society all his life.
From the perspective of someone who has been fundamentally disappointed in living thing and people.
From the perspective of someone who is hopeless about life and people.
From the perspective of someone who has given up on life.
The point of view of one who has been socially rejected from having his own genetic offspring because of the disease he suffered.
To have a very short life because of the disease. The point of view of one who is doomed to do so.
The perspective of a person who is destined to live a very short life because of the disease. This is the point of view of a person whose living thing is predetermined.
The inability to attain competence in one's lifetime due to the disease. This is the perspective of someone who is certain of this.
To be mistreated and exploited by society throughout one's life due to the disease. This is the point of view of those who are certain of this.
A perspective of whistle-blowing by such a person against living thing's and human society.

My life goal.
It consists of the following.
Sex differences between males and females.

Human society and living things society.
Living thing itself.
To analyze and clarify the essence of these things on my own.

My goals in living thing have been greatly hindered by the following people.

People of male-dominated society. Example. Western countries.
People in female-dominated societies that are dominated by such male-dominated societies. Examples. Japan and Korea.
They will never admit the existence of a female-dominated society.
They never acknowledge the essential sex difference between males and females.
They socially obstruct and prohibit the study of sex differences.
This attitude of theirs is inherently disturbing and harmful to the clarification of the nature of sex differences.

The essential commonality between human and non-human living thing.
They will never admit it.
They desperately try to distinguish and discriminate between human and non-human living thing.
They desperately try to assert the superiority of human beings over non-human living things.

Such attitudes are inherently disturbing and harmful to the clarification of the nature of human society and living things society.

Females in a female-dominated society. Example. Females in Japanese society.
They ostensibly never acknowledge the superiority of females in a female-dominated society.
The truth about the inner workings of female-only and female-dominated societies.
They will never admit to its disclosure.
Their attitude is intrinsically disturbing and harmful to the clarification of the nature of sex differences between males and females.
Their attitude is essentially harmful to the clarification of the nature of human society and living things society.

People like the above.
Their attitudes have fundamentally interfered with my life goals.
Their attitudes have upset, destroyed, and ruined my life from its very foundation.
I am very angry about those consequences.
I want to bring down the hammer on them.
I want to make them understand the following at all costs.
I want to figure out the following on my own, no matter what it takes.
//
The truth about sex differences between males and females.
The truth about human society and living thing society.
//

I wanted to analyze human society in a calm and objective way.
So, I temporarily isolated myself from human society.
I became a bird's eye view of human society.
I continued to observe the trends of human society via the Internet, day in and day out.

As a result.
I got the following information.
A unique perspective that overlooks the whole of human society from the bottom up.

The result.
I managed to get the following information on my own.
//
The nature of sex differences between males and females.
The essence of human society and living things society.

The results.
I've got a new life goal.

My new life goal.
To oppose and challenge their social interference.

And to spread the following among the people.
//
The truth about sex differences that I have discovered on my own.
The truth about human society and living things society that I have grasped on my own.
//

I am creating these books to realize those goals.
I continue to revise the contents of these books diligently, day by day, in order to realize these goals.

My biography.

I was born in Kanagawa Prefecture, Japan, in 1964.
I graduated from the Department of Sociology, Faculty of Letters, University of Tokyo, in 1989.
In 1989, I passed the National Public Service Examination of Japan, Class I, in the field of sociology.
In 1992, I passed the National Public Service Examination of Japan, Class I, in the field of psychology.
After graduating from university, I worked in the research laboratory of a major Japanese IT company, where I was engaged in prototyping computer software.
I am now retired from the company and am devoting myself to writing.
